POETRY.

WHY BE UNHAPPY.

What's the use to be unhappy,'
What's the use to fume and fret?
What's the use to look behind you,
Nursing up the vain regret.

What if life is clouded over,
With its sorrows dark and wild?
What if fortune does look sternly?
Hath she never sometimes smiled.

Why, if you must taste the bitter,
Will you fling the sweet away,
Fighting ever with the crosses
That you meet from day.

Why disquiet those around you,
With complaints you should suppress—
Weary those whom duty bids you
Still to comfort and to bless.

Look at yonder little insect,
Sporting in the sun's bright beams,
Listen now, and hear the music,
Of your laughing little streams.

Look at nature all around you,
And above, where'er you stray?
Mute creation's ever singing,
Happy I! it seems to say.

What's the use to be unhappy!
What's the use to fume and fret?
Pluck up courage, laugh at trifles,
And you may be happy yet.

A Kiss and its Consequences

Our boarding-house is not a common boarding-house, nor are our boarders common boarders. I do not by this wish to convey the idea that there is anything peculiarly uncommon about us or our house—only that we reside in an aristocratic portion of the town, and consider ourselves, on the whole, rather a select set.

But, however select a company may be, the fact that they are select is not an infallible proof that nothing disreputable can occur among them.

This has been especially proven in our case. We have just been deeply agitated, excited—shocked! Happily for the reputation of our place, the affair of which I speak had a gratifying termination.

In our boarding-house resides an inveterate old bachelor named Wigley. Mr Wigley is by no means such a person as some persons invariably represent old bachelors to be, neither in appearance nor disposition. He is a portly, middle-aged, good-natured, fun-loving, sociable fellow, and likes the society of ladies far better than three-fourths of the married men. Mr and Mrs. Pickleby are also of our company; the former a commission merchant, is a quiet and a very respectable sort of a man, exceedingly fond of his wife, and without a little inclined to jealousy; the latter is a beatiful and affectionate creature, who dotes upon her husband, and isn't jealous at all.

One day, last week, Miss Celestia Nobbs—another of our borders, and a maiden lady of thirty five or thereabouts—heard a noise in the hall below, and stepping out of her apartment, she leaned over the banisters, to see what was the cause of it. She distended her stork-like neck to its utmost limit, and listened with breathless interest.

"I am so glad you are come!" she heard a voice which she at once recognized as Mrs Pickleby's, exclaim; and the next moment she saw that lady pass beneath her to meet a gentleman, of whom she could get but a partial view. Then a loud kiss was given, and Mrs. Pickleby said in a somewhat lower tone of voice:

"Come with me—come to my room: Mr. Pickleby is at his office, and I am alone."

Then both started to ascend the stairs, and Miss Nobbs hastened to withdraw to her room, but not before she had caught a better glimpse of the man who was with Mrs. Pickleby and discovered in him, as she thought, no other than Mr. Wigley. That gentleman had been absent in the country for a week, and she had seen him on his return, not more than an hour previous, enter the house.

Miss Celestia Nobbs is one of those pure and immaculate bings, the chief desire of whose hearts it is that nothing sinful shall occur on earth, and who, feeling themselves to be spotless philanthropy, as they seem to imagine, spend their time prying into affairs of other people, and dictating to them the course they should pursue.

"Ah! ah!" said the spinster, as she closed the door of her room, and walked on tip-toe to a seat, "it's come to this, has it? I always thought there was something more than everybody knew was going on between the two."

She sat for half an hour in deep meditation upon the matter, and then she arose and moved toward the door.

"If the wicked, shameless creature thinks," said Miss Nobbs, to herself, "if she has the faintest idea that such actions will be suffered in this house, she will find herself mistaken, I can assure her."

She heard the footsteps without, and as she passed into the hall, she saw Mr. Wigley descending the stairs, and heard him leave the house.

"Left her, have you?" she uttered under her breath. "Well, well, I never expected to witness such goings on—never! But you're found out—you'll know—both of you!"

She hastened to the room of Miss Dobbs, on the floor above. Miss Dobbs is a confidant of Miss Nobbs, a few years older than herself, and a few degrees thinner in person. Miss Nobbs was gratified to find Mrs. Briggs in company with her friend on this occasion. Mrs Briggs, I may as well state, is a widow lady of some twelve years standing who had long endeavored—it is generally believed by nearly all in the house, to captivate and ensnare, in the meshes of matrimony, Mr. Wigley.

Miss Nobbs smiled mysteriously, as she entered, and carefully closing the door, she seated herself beside her friend.

"I am glad to find you together," said she, "for I have a thing of the greatest importance to make known."

"Do tell," exclaimed Miss Dobbs, with an eager air; "what is it?"

"Something you'll be surprised to know. Oh! it is the most wonderful thing in the world how deceptive some people can be! I never in my life——"

"But what is it?" cried both of the ladies in a breath.

"The most shameful goings on you ever witnessed, I'll be sworn! replied the excited virgin, in so expressive a manner that the curiosity of her listeners became unendurable. Then pausing a moment, to let her words take effect, Miss Nobbs looked solemnly from one to the other, and continued.

"Will you believe it, ladies, when I tell you that I saw with my own eyes Mrs. Pickleby in the hall below with a man?"

"You don't say!" uttered Miss Dobbs.

"Shocking!" exclaimed Mrs Briggs.

"True, every word; but that isn't all. I heard them give a kiss; and Mrs. Pickleby invited him to her room!"

"Gracious heavens?" ejaculated the listeners simultaneously, elevating their hands in horror and surprise.

"Yes, she told him she was all alone—that Mr Pickleby was not at home—and so they went off together. Oh! it's almost incredible, such shamful conduct!"

"The immodest, unblushing thing!" exclaimed the widow, indignantly.

"Such wickedness!" echoed Miss Dobbs, "But who was she with?"

"Mr. Wigley."

"Is it possible!"

Mrs. Briggs was stricken dumb by the announcement of the name, and for a few moments gave some tokens of an intention to swoon; but thinking better of it she refrained.

"This is a terrible thing!" said Miss Nobbs, earnestly, after enjoying fully the sensation she had created.

"Terrible, indeed!" uttered Miss Dobbs.

"And not to be borne!" exclaimed the indignant widow, her face assumed a very erubescent tint as she spoke.

"It must not be borne," said the spinister; "the reputation of the house will not allow such things to pass unnoticed."

"And our own reputation," chimed the other maiden.

"Think what we should be made to suffer," cried the widow, "if it should become known that we live in the midst of such iniquitous scenes."

"Our characters must not be trifled with thus," exclaimed Miss Nobbs, with a determined air, "and this thing must not be allowed to stop here."

"Poor Mr. Pickleby!" sighed Miss Dobbs. "I pity him from my heart."

"And so do I," said the widow, "for I dare say he has not the least suspicion of his wife's perfidy."

"He must know it" uttered Miss Nobbs speaking in a low and determined tone of voice.

"You are right, he must know it; but how?" inquired Miss Dobbs.

"We must tell him."

"Will it be proper?"

"It will be doing our duty."

"Yes," said Mrs. Briggs, "it will be but the performance of a Christian duty. We must tell him."

"And I, for one, am ready to go and perform that duty," remarked Miss Nobbs, with a meek and resigned look, as if she had taken it upon herself to suffer at the stake.

"And I," said the widow.

"Oh, I will accompany you; I am sure I only want to do what is right," said Miss Dobbs, submissively.

'Then let us go at once.'

'Yes, the sooner he has his mind disabused in respect to his wife the better.

Forth according, the immaculate trio sailed as soon as they could make the necessary preparations, and bent their course toward the store of Mr. Pickleby, in the lower part of the city.

The merchant was busily engaged in the transaction of some business when he saw the three ladies approach him. He suspended operations and inquired what happy circumstances had brought them hither.

'It is a sad errand on which we are come," said Miss Nobbs, shaking her head with a melancholy air.

'A dreadful errand!' affirmed Miss Dobbs, dubiously.

'A more dreadful errand you could not imagine!' added Mrs. Briggs, making a strong effort to shudder.

'For mercy's sake, ladies,' cried the alarmed man, turning pale, 'what is it?'

'In the first place, Mr. Pickleby,' said the first spinster, 'we wish to assure you that you have our warmest sympathies—that we feel for you.'

'From the very bottom of our hearts,' added the elder maiden.

'And nothing but a deep sense of duty,' remarked the widow, 'has induced us to take the step we have in order to reveal to you such distressful news.'

'What is it? what is it?' exclaimed the merchant frantically. 'Don't keep me in suspense: what has happened?'

'Your wife,' uttered Miss Nobbs, in a significant tone.

'Yes, Mr. Pickleby, your wife!' repeated the other two in a breath.

Mr. Pickleby staggered backwards, while a look of dreadful terror overspread his features.

'My wife!' he gasped 'what of my wife? is she sick? is she dead?

Miss Nobbs closed her eyes, and shook her head slowly.

'Then why do you alarm me so? what would you have me to understand?

'Is there not something that, to your noble mind, that is worse than death?'

'Eh! what—what do you mean?'

'Dishonor.'

'But Mrs Pickleby, she—she—she—'

'Mr. Pickleby, your wife is deceiving you'.

'Cruelly, shamfully deceiving you!' ejaculated Miss Dobbs.

'Undoubted, and in a manner not to be borne,' said the widow

Mr. Pickleby looked from one to the other in speechless agony.

'Briefly,' said Miss Nobbs, while you are absent, your wife is receiving the attention of other men.'

'We have noticed with grief,' continued Miss Nobbs, 'that one of our sex should so far forget her modesty as to do as she has done.'

'And for that reason,' added Mrs. Briggs, 'as I have already said, we determined to acquaint you with the fact.'

'How do you know this?' cried the merchant, in a voice of rage. 'Are you certain of what you say?'

'Quite!' answered Miss Nobbs; 'I saw your wife this morning with Mr Wigley, in the hall; heard them kiss; and together they went to your room'

'Wigley! 'Do you mean to say that Wigley is the man?'

'Wigley! repeated Miss Nobbs, emphatically.

'The odious villain!' cried Pickleby, seizing his hat as he spoke. 'He shall repent it—he shall repent it—bitterly.'

He rushed from the store as he spoke, leaving his informants in the most unceremonious manner. They quietly proceeded homeward, congratulating each other that they had been evidently the means of putting down a giant of iniquity.

Mr Wigley has an office in Broadway. Mr Pickleby, soon after his interview with the ladies, stood in the presence of Mr Wigley, who smiled, and offered his hand to the other. Mr. Pickleby, with every expression of scorn and hate, declined to touch it.

'Permit me to inform you,' said the merchant, almost choking with rage, 'that I know all!'

Mr. Wigley looked at the speaker with astonishment.

'Yes, sir,' continued the excited Pickleby, 'I know all, and I'm not such a paltry coward as to suffer it to pass with impunity'

Whereupon, before the other could utter a word, he gave Mr. Wigley such a blow on the head as to stagger him not a little, and, before he could recover from surprise, it was followed up by another blow on the other side of his head, which made his ears ring in a most wonderful manner.

This was rather too much for the good nature of Mr. Wigley, and so he nerved himself to the task and commenced a retaliation. Being nearly double the weight of his antagonist, he soon had it all his own way; and, to be brief, in less than ten minutes Mr. Pickleby cried loudly for quarter, admitting himself to be as well whipped a man as he ever encountered.

'And now,' said Wigley, after helping his adversary to his feet, 'now, that our affair is settled, please tell me what I have flogged you for?'

'For intrigning with my wife, as you well know,' replied the defeated but still indignant man.

'It is a lie!' said Wigley

'It is the truth,' responded Pickleby, 'and I can prove it.'

'You can't do it. Come we will go and see Mrs. Pickleby herself, and show me a witness if you can.

'Very well, it is just what I desire.'

Mr. Pickleby washed the blood from his face, arranged his disordered garments as well as he could, and accompanied Mr. Wigley home.

Miss Nobbs, Miss Dobbs, and Miss Briggs were called, and an explanation demanded by the accused Wigley. Miss Nobbs persisting in the truth of what she uttered, the whole party, at the request of the injured husband, proceeded to his wife's apartment.

Mrs. Pickleby, to the surprise of all, was not alone, a man was with her. As soon as Mr. Pickleby saw him he smiled, and advanced and shook him by the hand.

'My brother,' said he, turning to those who had followed him.

Miss Nobbs' face became crimson.

'I fear,' she stamered, 'that I have unintentionally made a mistake. This must be the gentleman I saw, and he is so like Mr. Wigley that I was led to believe he was no other. I beg pardon.

As the trio ladies took their departure, Mr Pickleby was heard to utter divers maledictions upon the heads of all meddling, busy-tongued scandal-mongers; but he soon recovered his temper, explained the whole affair to his wife, joined heartily in the laugh that was raised at his expense, and ended by inviting Wigley to join their party that evening at a game of whist.

The Divisions of the Democracy—How to Heal Them.

The Washington States, in expatiating, a few days ago, on the division and distraction of the Democracy, stated its purpose was to impress the party with the necessity of immediate organization for the contest in 1860. It is obvious and undeniable that except our scattered forces be rallied, and a plan of action be agreed upon, we cannot hope to win in the struggle.

To the end, therefore, of union and harmony among the Democracy, we have to suggest the cultivation of a more tolerant and fraternal feeling than has prevailed since the advent of the present Administration. Without imputing blame to either party—it is no time for recrimination—we are free to confess that neither the Lecompton nor anti-Lecompton have manifested sufficient forbearance of each other's peculiarities of opinion. Nor have the Administration been as indulgent as casual eccentricities among their adherents as they might have afforded, considering their solid strength with this country. On the other hand, we have lamented the excessive irritability of those who thrown into momentary resistance to the policy of the President. Let there be an end of these jealousies and resentments. The Lecompton question is an extinct issue. With wise men the past is of use only as it affords lessons for the direction of their future conduct. Let us then revert to the animosities of the Kansas controversy for no other purpose than to be admonished of the necessity for greater conciliation hereafter. With the explanation of obsolete issues, let the unamiable feelings with which they are associated be likewise buried in oblivion. Let us cast no look behind, but press forward for the prize of victory with the admirable zeal and energy hitherto characteristic of the Democracy.

Another indispensable condition to the organization of the party is the recognition of a leader. By the voice of the people Mr. Buchanan has been chosen as the representative man of the Democracy. We have burdened him with the responsibility of power, and we owe him a generous support in the conduct of the Government.—Not that we should approve every measure of his administration, nor even be silent when we dissent from his policy. We mean only to inculcate among Democrats the duty of exhibiting the most indulgent spirit which their conscientious convictions will allow. Prompt to applaud and reluctant to condemn, should be the disposition of every Democrat toward a Democratic Executive. On the other hand it is obligatory upon the President to be tolerant of immaterial differences among his followers. If they support his policy in the main he can require nothing more. If they are obliged by a sense of duty to oppose his Administration on a particular point, he should respect their sincerity and applaud their independence. To exact a rigid conformity to his own standard of opinion, would be an excess of tyranny incompatible with the spirit of Democratic faith and practice. The utmost obligation of the party to the President, is to give him the benefit of a friendly partiality. The engagement is reciprocal; and it is incumbent on him to be indulgent to the errors of individual judgment.

It is essential in the third place, to the effective organization of the party, that Democrats should be united by some common bond of principle. But this condition is impractical, if equal importance is not to be attached to every article of belief, and if spurious tests may be incorporated into our confessions of faith, at the pleasure of any presumptuous commentator. The dogmatic doctrine of the party is expounded in the Cincinnati Platform, and we deny authority to the President or any other person to enlarge its basis of principle by the addition of a single issue. In the interpretation of the text of our creed, we claim the utmost independence of individual judgment; otherwise the conscience of members will be constrained by the dictation of an irresponsible authority. The President himself is the creature of the party: and as he can deduct nothing from its declaration of doctrine, so neither can he interpolate so much as a solitary syllable into its platform of principle. Upon that platform he stands on a level with every other Democrat, and is equally responsible to the representative power of the party—the National Convention.

We are persuaded, if these suggestions are heeded, the organization of the Democratic party may be restored to its original strength and soundness. The prevalence of a more fraternal spirit among members: the exhibition of a more friendly feeling for the Administration: great tolerance of individual opinion, and a cordial combination on the basis of fundamental principle, with toleration in regard to superfluous and non essential issues—these are the only indispensible conditions of union and harmony in the Democratic party. If observed, they will soothe dissension, reconcile differences, repair the schism of the party, and infallibly insure its success in the decisive struggle of 1860.

The Tariff of 1857 — Mr. Vallandigham, of Ohio, made an excellent speech in the late House of Representatives upon the tariff question. He exposes the sharp practice which the manufacturers of New England were guilty of when they procured the passage of the tariff of 1857. There is nothing in that tariff to comment it to the agricultural interest, against which it invariably discriminates, as we have taken frequent occasions within the last year, to show. Mr. Vallandigham's justly said:

"But I return to the direct question. I am no friend to the act of 1857. It is peculiarly a manufacturer's tariff, and a highly protective tariff, too: in my judgment, for them the most 'protective' tariff ever enacted. It 'protects' in two modes, for there are two modes of 'protection.' It admits the raw material free, and it lays also a duty upon the manufactured articles. Never was there sharper practice than in the passage of that act. It is entitled 'An act reducing the duty on imports;' and it does reduce duties, and the reduction is apparently great. Revenue it certainly has reduced. But, mark you, sir—how does that reduction work? Select the single article of wool. Under the act of 1846 all wool paid thirty per cent. But now wool, under twenty cents a pound, is free, and manufactures of wool reduced from twenty-four to nineteen per cent. Thus the manufacturer yields six and gains thirty per cent., by the dexterous maneuver of the 3d of March, 1857. And thus, too, are the interests of the producer, and especially of the agriculturist of the West, sacrificed for the benefit of the manufacturing interests of New England; and to-day New England would have no change in the tariff."

Venerable Shingles.—There are now shingles upon the roof of the old Farmington (Conn) church which have been there eighty-two years, and are still serviceable. The Hartford Courant says that in 1776 the builders of the church chartered a vessel to go to Maine for shingles, and she brought some that are eighteen inches long and were three quarters of an inch thick at the butt. Put on with six inches lap, they are not half worn through to day, and are good for many years longer.

☞ We once heard two boys who were boasting of what their father had. 'Well,' said one, 'I'll tell you one thing you havn't got, that we are going to have—we're going to have a cupola on our house!' 'Pshaw!' said the other, 'I don't care a cent for that, that's nothing. I heard Pa tell Ma, at breakfast table, this morning, that we were going to have a mortgage on our house!'

A Contrast.—In the Rome (N. Y) Daily Sentinel, we find the following admirable contrast of the Democratic with the Republican party:

One great secret of success of the Republican party, is because of the remembrance by their officials when in power, of their friends who placed them there. The Republican officials do everything when in power to reward their friends and build up the party at home. It is well worth while to contrast the course of the Republican State official in this State, with most of the democratic State officials. The former are constantly devising means to reward their friends remunerate the press, and remember with gratitude the services rendered by their political friends. Most of the Democratic State officials on the contrary seldom think of their friends—don't seem to know that there is a Democratic paper in the State, outside of Albany or New York. All right: we think if some of those officials wish to get in office again they will have a sweet time with the people and the press of the rural districts. We speak only what is the universal feeling among the Democracy in the country towns.

☞ What is true of New York is equally true of Indiana. Not only do Democrats when they obtain power, neglect their party papers, except a few favored pets, but actually vote large shares of their patronage to the most violent opposition papers, and threaten to punish and persecute all those Democratic members of the Legislature and others who dare to speak out in opposition to these nefarious doings!

Minnesota Banking.—The Bank Department of the Minnesota Government has lately decided that the State Railroad bonds of the Cedar Valley Road may be used as the basis of banking, at a valuation of ninety five cents on the dollar! Our readers remembering that the same bonds are now being hawked around the Eastern cities without finding purchasers at fifty per cent. discount, will agree with us that the banks of Minnesota, without specie or other available assets, rests upon a somewhat sandy foundation. Our authority says that arrangements are nearly completed to issue three hundred thousand to five hundred thousand dollars of this "secured" currency within the next sixty days. We are also told that the Transit and Southern Minnesota R. R. companies will issue a mortgage to the state upon the strength of which another batch of currency is to be put afloat. The people of Minnesota are sowing the seeds of a full harvest of bitter fruit. When harvest time comes, there will be no complaint that there is not a large crop—Press and Tribune.

Decreased Production of Wheat.—At a meeting of the Philadelphia Society for Promoting Agriculture, Dr. Elwyn called the attention of the members to the fact that the wheat crops of the country were fast diminishing, as far as the number of bushels raised to the acre was concerned. He stated that in Ohio, a state but little over fifty years old, the crop had fallen off from forty bushels to the acre to about sixteen, while in the best portions of New York, where thirty bushels used to be considered a fair crop, only twelve bushels are now raised. The falling off in other States had been equally marked; but, while this was the fact with the wheat crop, he was glad to know that the amount of corn produced to the acre has largely increased and was still increasing enormously; therefore, the people of this country were in no danger of starving, but he could not say so much of France and England, who would year after year look to this country for their supply of wheat. He considered the subject an important one, and he hoped some means would be adopted to obtain a correct information. It was suggested by a member that a committee should be appointed to gather statistics, but this proposition did not seem to meet with much favor, as the only possible way of getting information would be from the last census of the United States and these were pronounced utterly worthless, as the facts were obtained by those who paid but little attention to the subject. Mr. Gowen thought the only way to get the information would be by agitating the matter in each State and corresponding with each county society.—Louisville Journal.

One of the Mayors.—The worthy Mayor of a Western city, well known to a host of admiring and warm friends, had 'a case' before him in the person of an individual taken up on suspicion of offering a counterfeited note of hand of a well-known firm for sale. He could not prove its genuineness, and was committed to jail until information could be had from the parties. When it came it was entirely satisfactory; the note was good, and the young man's character was put beyond doubt. The mayor had him brought to his office, and thus addressed him:—

'Young man, it is my duty to congratulate you on being so fortunate, for had the note been a counterfeit you certainly would have been sent to the penitentiary: you may go, and let it be a lesson to you.'

The young man demurred to the sentence, it being proved that the note came directly into the his hands from the makers of it, and he insisted that he had been badly treated by being put in prison for several days days, and his character aspersed.

'Not at all,' says our worthy dignitary, 'you have had a fair investigation, and it is very fortunate for you that the note proves to be a genuine one; for assuredly, you would have been sent to the penitentiary if it had proved a counterfeit. Now, go and sin no more.'

He went—and our aforesaid mayor cannot be made to see the transaction in any other light that as a fortunate thing for the young man that the note was genuine!

'Hold on Dar'—The Equa (S. C.) Register has the following in a recent issue.

Quite a revival is now in progress at the African church in this city. We were present a few evenings since, and witnessed with much gratification their earnest devotion.—Of the incidents we cannot fail to note one; a brother was eloquently supplicating the throne, when another called out in stentorian tones:

'Who dat prayin' ober dar?'

'Dat's ole brudder Mose.'

'Hole on dare brudder Mose, you let brudder Ryan pray, he's better 'quainted with de Laud dan you am.'

Brudder Mose dried up and brudder Ryan prayed.'

A Rat in Bed.—One night last week a lady up town in New York was awaken from sleep by a rat pulling her hair. She made a brush at the intruder, when he fled, but shortly after she felt him crawling under her night dress. The lady made a spring at the immodest fellow and caught him in the folds of her dress, and then with a bound and a scream, such as females only can make, she aroused the household, who supposed a robber or midnight assassin to be in the house. There was great commotion among the inmates till the cause of the outcry became known, and then, when the lady loosened her grasp, the rat fell lifeless upon the floor, having perished in her hands.

Moral—Ladies old enough to get married should not sleep alone.

☞ 'Why don't you hold hold your head up in the world as I do?' asked a haughty lawyer of a sterling old farmer. 'Squire,' said the farmer, 'see that field of grain: the well filled head hang down, while those only that are empty stand upright.'

When a young man is dependent upon his daily toil for his income, and marries a lady who does not know how to make a loaf of bread, or mend a garment, I wonder if he is not lacking somewhere, say toward the top for instance.

When a man receives a periodical or newspaper weekly, and takes great delight in reading them but neglects to pay for them, I wonder!

Buy a trunk Pat, said a dealer. And what for should I buy a trunk? rejoined Pat. To put your clothes in, was the reply. And go naked? exclaimed Pat. The divil a bit!

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1859.

Democratic City Convention

The Democrats of the City of Fort Wayne are requested to meet in their respective Wards, on SATURDAY, April 16th, at 7 o'clock P. M., and nominate two Candidates for Aldermen in the Ward; and also appoint for each Ward FIVE DELEGATES, to meet in CONVENTION, at the Court House, on SATURDAY, April 23rd, at 7 o'clock, P. M., to nominate Candidates for the various offices to be filled at the City Election. The Ward Meetings will be held as follows:

1st Ward, at J. Trentman's Store.
2nd " at Court House
3rd " at Mech's. Fireman's Hall.
4th " at Shaffer's Shop.
5th " at Rockhill House.

By order of City Committee.
F. P. RANDALL, Chairman.
March 26th, 1859.

Amendment to the City Charter null and void—Mr. Gregory, the city Attorney of Lafayette, has given an opinion that under the act for amending the act for the incorporation of cities, passed at the last session of the Legislature, the present members of the City Council will hold over; and that one Councilman for each ward will have to be elected in 1860, and another in 1862; and also that the City Clerk, Marshal, Street Commissioner, Treasurer, and Assessor will each hold their offices one year longer—leaving nothing but the Mayor to elect at this election.

It is said that most of the lawyers who have looked into the matter, agree with Mr. Gregory in his opinion. We do not feel competent to give a legal opinion on this question, and will not undertake to say that the words of the law may not be so twisted as to bear the construction placed on them by Mr. Gregory; but as the Legislature evidently did not intend any such thing, but designed that the Council and other City Officers should be elected this year, and thence regularly every two years after, we contend that it would be better to carry out the obvious meaning of the law, and pay no attention to the technicalities of the lawyers.

Our Common Council will have the matter under consideration on Tuesday evening next, and we presume decide what officers we are to elect.

This opinion of Mr. Gregory does not seem to be looked upon as of much force. We notice that in Indianapolis and other cities, full tickets have been nominated for all the offices intended by this act to be filled at the election on the first Tuesday in May next.

The New Albany Ledger thinks it would be the wisest policy to "elect all the councilmen, so that the lots may be drawn as provided in the amended charter, and also the other officers, so that all can come in and go out together." In this view we fully concur. Any other course would lead to innumerable difficulties.

We commend the following from the Ledger, to the attention of our Council, as showing that Mr. Gregory's opinion is not to be implicitly relied on. So gross an error as the one here pointed out, should materially shake confidence in the rest of his arguments and deductions.

An Opinion that's not worth much.—In his opinion on the effects of the amendments to the City Charter, Mr Gregory illustrates his position by stating that Gov. Wright was elected Governor under the old constitution for three years, but that the new constitution coming into force in the meantime, making the Governor's term four years, he (Gov. Wright) "served out a term of four years under an election for three."

Mr Gregory is unfortunate in his illustration. Gov. Wright was first elected, under the old constitution in August, 1849, for three years, and served from December 1849 to January 1853—a period of three years and one month—not four years as Mr Gregory states. The cause of his serving the extra month was the change of the time of meeting of the Legislature from December to January. In 1852 he was reelected Gov under the new constitution, for four years, which he served out.

Mr Gregory may be a good lawyer, and, considering he has been a State Senator and a candidate for Congress, ought to be posted up in the political history of his own State, but such appears not to be the case.—N. A. Ledger.

Leasing of the Canal.—A meeting of the business men, capitalists, and others interested in the Wabash & Erie Canal was held at Lafayette, to make some arrangements for transferring or leasing that portion of the Canal extending from Terre Haute to the State Line. A favorable proposition was made by the Trustees, which with some amendments, was accepted, and a contract in accordance therewith prepared, which will without doubt be consummated, and this portion of the Canal be leased to a company, consisting, as we are informed, chiefly of citizens of this place.

The lessees are to nominate all their own officers and fix the compensation, and have general control of the repairs, collection and police of the canal. In consideration of this, the Trustees give to them the entire toll of that division of the canal, and agree that the rate of local tolls shall be established by them. As, however, the Trustees are the only parties authorized to collect tolls and keep up the regulations of the canal, all the business must necessarily be done in their name.

☞ The Commissioners to select a location for the new State Prison were in this city from Saturday till Tuesday last. They expressed a very favorable opinion as to the eligibility of this place for the site of the prison. We understand Wm. Rockhill, Esq., offered his beautiful tract of land on the North side of the Feeder, facing the junction, at the price per acre ($100) to which the act of the Legislature limits the commissioners in purchasing the site. This would be a very desirable location, and is offered for less than one-half its real value.

There appears to have been quite a change come over the feelings of our citizens in regard to the location of the prison here, since the visit of the commissioners. Last week we stated that no one desired it—and this we believe was true at that time; but this week almost every one we have heard express an opinion is strongly in its favor. We cannot say that we much desire it; but if it should be decided that Fort Wayne is the best location, we have no objections to urge. There are doubtless many disadvantages attendant on having such an institution; but it cannot be denied that it also has its advantages, and may add much to our commercial interests. Time will tell which preponderates.

Louisville Election.—The Know Nothings have again succeeded by violence and bloodshed in keeping democrats from the polls, and have elected their ticket, but by greatly reduced majorities—their average majority not exceeding 300. About 700 voters, mostly democrats, stayed from the polls. The bloody reign of Sam in that city is about at an end, and this may be looked upon as his last dying struggle. Next fall the democrats will carry the city. The democrats carried the 1st, 2d, and 3d wards by small majorities.

Several German and Irish citizens were ruthlessly beaten and knocked down by the rowdies, and several shots were fired; a man had his leg shattered and another had his arm broken, but fortunately no person was killed.

Probability of Peace in Europe.—Another arrival from England yesterday brings intelligence that Austria, France, England and the other great powers of Europe have agreed upon holding a conference at Aix-la-Chappelle, at which an effort will be made to adjust all existing differences on the basis of the treaty of Vienna of 1815. Notwithstanding all the bluster that has been made, and the immense warlike preparations that have been going on, the despots appear afraid to commence hostilities. The feverish state of public feeling throughout Europe, and the imminent danger that the first gun fired would be the signal for a general revolutionary movement, have admonished the rulers that the only safety for their crowns will be found in keeping peace with each other. The probabilities now are decidedly in favor of peace.

Wayne Township Election.—On Monday last, at our township election, C. A. Rekers, dem., was elected Trustee. The Republicans nominated C. Anderson as their candidate, and made great calculations on electing him,—but, as is the usual case here, they failed for the want of votes. Reckers' vote was 625, and Anderson's 490. A strong effort was made to bring out the Republican vote, and nearly the whole strength of that party was at the polls. The Democrats could easily have polled 200 or 300 more votes if they had been required.

J P Hedges, F J Frank, A T Hedges, and H S Cosgrove were elected Constables.

John Burt was elected Road Supervisor in the 1st district; Asa Fairfield, in the 2nd; T Bolger in the 5th; and A Crance in the 7th.

Dr. P. G. JONES, an old resident of the city, who "fit, bled, and died" for his country on the ensanguined plains of Mexico, is a candidate for Mayor of the city; and as a matter of course, Squire Dubois, who is always ready when there is an office to fill, is also on the track. They both belong to the opposition party, and will divide the vote pretty equally—though we think the Doc. will come out ahead; for while it is objected that the squire will be blind to the interests of the city, it is universally conceded that the Doctor can see double, and would therefore watch over our affairs with Argus-like vigilance.

Change of Time.—Another change has been made in the time of the Toledo & Wabash Railroad. The trains now leave our depot, going West, at 2 35 A. M. and 2 15 P. M. Going East, at 4.10 A. M. and 11.55 A. M.

The night Express Train on this road has a sleeping car, with the comfortable arrangements of a first class hotel. This is a convenience which speaks well for the determination of the officers of the road to keep up with all improvements for the comfort of passengers.

Additional Train on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railroad.—On and after to-morrow, three daily trains will pass over this road—Leaving the depot at Fort Wayne, going west, at 2 30 A.M.; 11 00 A.M.; 1 01 P.M. Going east, at 1 15 A.M.; 11 55 A.M.; and 1 52 P.M.

☞ The rear wall of a Catholic Church in Fort Wayne, Indiana, is near a railroad, and on Sunday last a train ran off the track and demolished about twenty feet of the structure, but did no other serious damage.

☞ We find the above in the State Sentinel and copy it as an article of news for our citizens, who are not aware of any such catastrophe having occurred. There are however two or three trifling inaccuracies which it may be as well to correct. In the first place there is no Catholic Church here which is near a railroad. Secondly, a train running off the track would have to travel near a quarter of a mile passing over ditches and buildings before it could reach the church. Thirdly—no such accident happened. The whole story is a stupid hoax, probably got up on the first of April.

The State Printing Bargain. At a meeting of the Democracy of Washington Co., held at the Court House in Salem, on the 29th ult., the course of Mr. Heffren, on the State printing question, was fully endorsed by his constituents, and Walker's bargain denounced as corrupt and disgraceful, and an insult to the Democracy of the State.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, John C. Walker, the State printer elected by the last Legislature, having since the adjournment of the Legislature, published a lengthly communication in the State Sentinel, assailing the course of Hon Horrace Heffren, our Senator, upon the printing question; and whereas, it has been directly charged that said Walker did agree to divide the profits of said office with the New Albany Tribune, and which said Walker has not denied. Therefore,

Resolved, That we denounce the said bargain as corrupt and disgraceful to said Walker, and a stigma and insult to the Democracy of Washing county, as well as of the State.

Resolved, That the course pursued by Hon Horrace Heffren, upon the printing question, in the last Legislature, meets our hearty approbation, and that we hereby endorse his whole course upon that subject.

Wisconsin Election.—Lynde, Democrat, has about three thousand majority in Milwaukie for Judge of the Supreme Court. The returns show about the same comparative party vote as last fall. The result is doubtful.

Let the Germans Speak.—The German Republicans of Massachusetts have issued an address to the people of the United States, commenting upon the recent action of the Black Republican Legislature of that State, which put an amendment to the constitution depriving them of the right to vote until they have been there seven years, in which they say:

"We, citizens of German descent will have nothing more to do with the Republican party we will never more lend our help to elevate a party to power which tramples us under foot."

Keeping up a Stiff Upper Lip.—At the recent election in Cleveland, the republicans made a tolerably clean sweep—electing every thing but the grave digger. Gray, of the Plaindealer, instead of grumbling over the defeat, makes the most out of the little he had to crow over, and thus glorifies over the democratic success in the Sexton's election. He certainly puts the best face on the matter that the circumstances would admit of:

[Engraving of the American flag, with the motto, "We've met the enemy and we're thours!"]

Victorious Victory!
TRIUMPHANT TRIUMPH!!
GREAT DOIN'S!!!
Democratic Sexton!
Democratic Dead Body Superintendent!!
Democratic Grave Yard Manager!!!
Democratic Cemetery Keeper!!!!
Democratic Grave Digger!!!!!
GLORY—GLORY—GLORY—GLORY!

☞ It is our proud pleasure to announce that the above important offices are Democratic to the back bone. They are offices of very grave importance, and the only ones we calculated on filling. The grave yards have been in the hands of the Republicans long enough. The Democracy determined to have the management of the Cemeteries themselves. No good democrats can be buried by a Black Republican Sexton without feelings of shame and disgust. For one we would never consent to such a thing, whether there was a drop of blood in our veins or not. The office of Sexton, then, was what we battled for in this momentous canvass, and our triumph has been at once majestic and brilliant. The city has been redeemed, and the Republicans would be ashamed of themselves if they hadn't long ago got over being ashamed of anything. Democrats needn't go away from home when they die hereafter to be buried respectably. Let the Black Republicans wince—let them howl with rage—we've got charge of their dead bodies!! The Mayorality and Marshalship, and other trifling offices they may have in welcome. They may have their Senterberry—we mean their Coffinter—no, we mean their Crawberry—no, we don't exactly know what we do mean, but they may have all of 'em—it shall be our proud duty and pleasure to burry them! Herafter we shall regulate dead bodies in our own way, subject only to the Constitution of the United States. This is in accordance with the Kansas Nebraska William. This is Popular Sovereignty. Bring out the Big Gun! Let the Canon roar! Fetch forth the Male Fowl! Let Bonfires be kindled on Scranton's Bottom! "We've met the enemy and we'er thours!"

WASHINGTON, March 31.

From all that can be learned it is not unsafe to say that if the statements relative to Sir Wm Gore Ousley's alleged conduct in Nicaragua are correct, he has violated not only his own instructions, but the solemn understanding between the British Governments and that of the United States.

If the facts are as stated, the President, it is said, notwithstanding the refusal of Congress to grant him extraordinary powers to protect the rights and property of citizens of the United States, will exact a conformity with whatever may have been the written stipulations between the two governments respecting Sir Ousley's mission.

The recent outrage upon the vessels of the Atlantic and Pacific Steamship Company was to day brought to the attention of the government officials, who are reported to have said that the property of American citizens shall and will be protected. The prospects now are that additional vessels will be dispatched to Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, April 1.

The Union has an apparently semi-official article on the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, saying that the President has never changed his policy concerning it; that the American construction will be substantially carried into effect; that the Mosquito Protectorate and the Bay Islands will no doubt be surrendered to Nicaragua and Honduras respectively; that the substance of Sir William Gore Ouseley's instructions has been communicated to this Government only through Lord Napier; that it has full faith in the loyalty of the British Government, and if Sir Gore Ouseley has exceeded his instructions in any particular, he will no doubt be called to a rigid account.

A letter from the commander of the Savannah, dated at Vera Cruz, March 10, confirms the defeat of Miramon, and the success of the constitutionalists in the interior, as well as their advance on the City of Mexico.

It is probable that Ex Senator Jones will withdraw his declination of the Bogota Mission. There are at least twenty applicants for the vacant Commissionership of Patents and Indian Affairs, which will not be decided upon for a week to come.

WASHINGTON, April 5

According to the present indications the Sickels trial will occupy at least two weeks.

The Quartermaster's department is curtailing its expenses as fast as the public service will admit.

In additon to the two military posts on the route to Utah three are to be dispensed in Texas and orders have been issued to stop the purchase of mules, &c,

Advices from Africa say the African squadron is still repeating their monotonous drudgery up and down the coast for a distance of 5,000 miles. The health of the men was tolerably good.

The recent order to immediately fit out the new steamers, is not with especial reference to the events in Nicaragua. The design is to relieve vessels in the Pacific and other squadrons.

The dispatches sent to General Lamar, are it is represented, of the most positive character.

They instruct him to demand from Nicaragua an apology, restitution, and indemnity, on the failure to comply with which he is to comply with which he is to ask for his passports.

The Home Squadron it is said will be strengthened, and the vessels placed at the disposal of General Lamar, to use them for defense of American citizens, their property and their vessels rights.

The dispatches of the flag officers, McClaney and Long, commanding respectively the Home and Pacific squadrons, are to obey the orders of General Lamar, and failing to receive them they are to exercise a latitudinous discretion. The usual diplomatic course has been pursued in informing the foreign legation of the intention of this Government.

NEW YORK, March 31.

Advices received by the Northern Light state that the Legislature of Nicaragua issued a special decree on the 4th inst., declaring the transit route free to all nations.

By the arrival of an English mail steamer at Aspinwall, important news from Greytown is furnished. The U S sloop of war Decatur having anchored in the cove near San Juan del Sur was mistaken for a fillibuster, and President Martinez, with four hundred troops, immediately took possession of the transit route to prevent the landing of the supposed fillibusters. On being appraised of the true character of the Decatur, he retreated, but destroyed the bridges.

In the meanwhile the French officers with a force crossed the lake to the river San Juan, and seized the White steamers, and forcibly imprisoned the officers and crew. They had not been released when the steamer left.

Forts Castillo and San Carlos are to be given up to M. Belly and his men for their head quarters.

Three of the treaties negotiated by Sir William Gore Oasley, the British Minister, have been ratified.

The workshops and houses at Punta Areanas, belonging to the Accessory Transit Company have been swept off by the sea.

According to the Panama Star it was the Nicaraguan Government officers who took possession of the American lake boats which had been abandoned to M. Belly.

The Herald, in editorially commenting on the important Nicaraguan news furnished by the steamer Northern Light, uses the following language:

"It will be seen that President Martinez, of that Republic has capped the climax of his hatred to the United States. All the transit steamers have been seized, the bridges destroyed Americans imprisoned, and the route trown open to the worl, regardless of the rights of our citizens.

"When it is taken into consideration that these wanton acts were perpetrated immediately on the conclusion of treaties with England and Sardinia, and the arrival of the French expedition under M. Felix Belly, there can be but one opinion as to the necessity of prompt, decisive action on the part of our Government. Instructions should be immediately dispatched to our naval commanders to blockade all the Nicaraguan ports. General Ioariz, be at once dismissed General Lamar recalled and a suitable person sent to fill his place.

"The miserable governments of the Central American States should receive a lesson effective enough to save all future trouble in that quarter."

The Times says: "The seizure of the boats of the Transit Company is an invasion of American rights, and a Tresspass upon American property which cannot pass unchallenged. If the President proves true to his pledges, and General Cass maintains the doctrines of his letter to Lamar, we shall speedily have this wrangle brought to a close. The best thing the President can do is to recall Lamar, send a competent man to take his place, and put one or two men of war at his diposal. The whole matter has been trifled with too long already."

BUENOS AYRES, January 27.

The Paraguay Expedition—Probable Settlement of the Difficulty.—The steamer Primer Argentino, from up the river, is just in, the British packet starts in three hours, and I have just time to inform you of the following facts:

Judge Bowlin, our Commissioners, started up the river for Asuncion on the 2nd inst., on board the United States steamer Fulton. He was stopped at the fort of Itaperru, and informed that by a law or decree then in force no armed vessels was allowed to ascend the river Paraguay. Judge Bowlin answered the officer in command that he came in the name of and duly authorized by the United States of America, for the purpose of concluding a treaty with Paraguay, and to seek peacibly, "the indemnity for the past and security for the future." Whilst communications were being interchanged between Commissioner Bowlin, and the commander of the fort Itaperra the plenipotentiaries sent by the Paraguayan government arrived, and proposed an adjournment to the neutral city of Corrientes, in the Argentine republic. They expressed, on the part of their government, the most anxious desire for a fair, just, and peaceable arrangement with the government of the United States; and, farther, that they were authorised to grant to the United States a treaty similar to those at present existing between their government and the governments of England France, and Sardinia; and furthermore, to leave to arbitration any and all such claims as the United States or any of its citizens might have against the government of Paraguay. Judge Bowlin replied that, such being the case, he would not then make a positive answer, but would meet the aforesaid plenipotentiaries at the said city of Corrientes within thirty days.

On the 20th inst, Judge Bowlin left for the city of Parana, where our new minister, Hon B C. Yancey, resides. Such is the state of our Paraguayan expedition up to the present moment.

The steamer Southern Star, and sloop Preble left for up the river from Montevideo on the 21st inst

Settlement of the Paraguay Difficulties.—The Herald has intelligence from Monte Video to the 10th of February, seventeen days later, announcing a peaceful adjustment of the difficulties with Paraguay, through the friendly offices of President Urquiza, of the Argentine Confederation. The precise terms of the settlement are not stated, but it is known that ample indemnity has been conceded to the family of the person killed on the steamer Water-witch, and to the American Company, represented by Mr. Hopkins.

NEW YORK, April 6.

Hostilities between Dominica and Denmark.—The Herald has letters from San Domingo to March 15, announcing hostilities between Dominica and Denmark.

A Danish Envoy recently arrived there in a war vessel, and peremptorily demanded one hundred and fifty thousand dollars as indemnity for the seizure of two Danish vessels by President Paez, during the recent revolution in Dominica.

The President, Santana, offered to refer the matter to arbitrators. The Danish functionary declined, giving the Dominicans twenty four hours to comply with his demands with the understanding that a refusal would be followed by a blockade of the port. The Dominicans forthwith decided in favor of war, and commenced manning their batteries. There was but one Danish war vessel in port.

Letters received here from San Domingo state that previous to the Danish action against Santana's government, the French demanded the concession of all the gold, silver, copper and coal mines of the Republic.

The writer of the above is entititled to full credence.

Trustees versus the Governor.—The old Board of Trustees of the Institute for the Blind, at a meeting held the present week, adopted resolutions expressive of their disapproval of the Governor's course in the appointment of Trustees for the Benevolent Institutions. We learn that Judge Morrison sustains the Board's opinion in regard to the illegality of the Governor's action, and that the Boards of the other Institutions will be likely to follow the action of the Board of Trustees for the Blind Institute.

The resolutions adopted by the Blind Institute Board are as follows:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Board, the action of the Governor in appointing new Commissioners or Trustees under a recent act of the Legislature, is not justified by law, and is in contravention of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of James Morrison Attorney General, and that this Board alone is the legally constituted Board of Trustees of the Institute.

Resolved, That while we will not voluntarily submit to what we believe to be an act of usurpation, we desire to have the question strictly upon its merits, and for that purpose propose to the new Board that an agreed case be presented to the Marion Circuit Court for their adjudication, and that in the meantime this Board regard it as their duty to continue the exercise of their functions as Trustees of the Institute.—State Journal.

Arrival of the New York.

NEW YORK, April 5.

The steamship New York from Southampton, with dates to the 23d ult, has arrived.

It has been determined to hold a peace Congress for the settlement of the Indian affairs.

A large meeting of the workmen had been held in Hyde Park, to oppose the Ministerial Reform Bill.

The Neapolitan exiles had arrived at Bristol. They were received by a gathering of at least 10,000 persons, who had assembled on the quays in the vicinity of the landing.

The Paris correspondence of the London press state that the Emperor having been informed of the ultimate resolutions of Austria, now desires to recede, by diplomatic help, from his aggressive attitude.

Another letter says that Austria and France appear more inclined toward a pacific solution of Italian affairs.

It is certain that the Austrian force in Lombardy is more imposing than was supposed.

The Vienna correspondence says there is no danger that it will be diminished for the present.

Telegraphic dispatches from Paris say that the five powers have agreed to the assembling of a European Congress, but the basis and extent of the discussions we are not settled

The Hague, London, and Berlin are mentioned as likely places for the Congress

The Austrian papers caution their readers against too much confidence in the peaceful reports, and express an opinion that it is very doubtful whether the Congress will be convoked

The export of arms, gunpowder and sulpher from Austria to the Italian states is prohibited.

The London Morning Herald says that France intends to protest against the construction of the fortifications at Planceuzo.

The Cardinal Antonilli had again requested the immediate evacuation of Rome by the Frenh troops.

The London Daily news says that the last Austrian circular is reported to have written by Prince Metternich.

In the British House of Commons, on Monday last, John Russell moved the amendment to the Reform bill of which he had given previous notice. The debates were adjourned till Tuesday next.

The London Times city article says the announcement of the Peace Congress caused an improvement in the funds, which would have been greater but for the fact that the Paris Bourse had not yet shown any decided recovery of confidence.

The steamship Canada arrived out on the 21st ultimo.

Advices from Austria one week later had been received. The mines continued to be prosperous.

India—Advices from the Bombay mail of the 25th February, had been telegraphed to London

The insurgents under Bihilas had been dispersed by the English and the forts captured without a blow.

Tantia Topee was still at large.

French Intrigue in Nicaragua.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes thus under date of April 3d:

Our affairs in Nicaragua, independently of any complication with England, seem to require attention, particularly as the Government announced, nearly a year ago, that it would no longer consent to any further diplomatic trifling with Nicaragua. Our Cass Irrizarri treaty and the Irrizarri White contracts have both been repudiated by Nicaragua and so has been her minister who negotiated them—M Irrizarri. Further attempts by the Government to open the transit by negotiation, would seem to be absurd.

M. Belly's proceedings and plans are much ridiculed here, but he has got a foothold on the Isthmus, with cohorts and naval and military means; but, besides, has been put by Nicaragua in possession of the forts on the lake, and the Transit Company's boats also. Leading men in France, and among them a Councillo of State, M. Michel Chevalier, has it seems, advocated M. Belly's plans and pretensions. He says, not only companies have come forward in his favor but illustrious personages, sovereigns, and men destined by providence to bear a glorious scepter, &c. All this means that French fillibustering on the Isthmus has commenced, and will be extended to the neighboring states of Mexico, where a new Empire is to be formed under the auspices of "men destined by providence to wield a glorious scepter."

If M Belly should meanwhile, complete the ship canal, it will become very useful and convenient for our intercourse with the Pacific States.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says, Ran. Runnels, the newly appointed Consul at San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua left here to day, with dispatches for General Lamar, and also dispatches for Commodore McCluney, of the home squadron, and Commodore Long of the Pacific squadron, who go out in tomorrow's steamer, from New York. These dispatches are understood to be, as stated yesterday, on a peremptory character, and will show the Government of Nicaragua that the United States will no longer submit to their double dealing policy.

If Sir William Gore Ousley has been weak enough as it is feared, to yield to the influence of Mr. Manning the British Consul at Nicaragua and exceeded his instructions, he will prove himself unfit for the important work he undertook, and ought to be recalled by his government.

Great activity prevails in our navy yards in getting ready vessels for immediate service. The Lancaster, Hartford, San Jacinto, Constellation, John Adams, Levant, Portsmouth Mohican, Wyoming, and Narragansett, have bee ordered to be prepared for the sea immediately.

☞ General William Walker, who is tolerably well known in the United States and other parts, arrived at Aspinwall in the steam ship Granada, from New Orleans, via Havana, on the 15th under the name of William Wilson, and took passage on the 16th, in the California steamer, the Golden Age. He entered himself as a steerage passenger at New Orleans, but nevertheless he occupied a good cabin state room. The General is better in flesh than when he last passed through here from Nicaragua, and has got rid of that yellow, sickly hue of face he brought from that interesting Republic. It is rather suspected here that he is again turning his longing "blue-gray eyes" toward his first love—Sonora. General Bruno Von Natzmar accompanied Walker.

No Democratic Division.—An effort is being made by the opposition to distract the Democracy by the assertion that cetain individuals are Douglas men, or Buchanan men, and that voters who wish to see the former gentlemen nominated by the Charleston Convention, should not support the friend of the latter, and with the facility of the fabled Satyr, who blew hot and cold with the same breath, these gentlemen are asserting that the Democracy who support the Administration should vote against what they are pleased to call the Douglas men. That game won't win. All the difference among men professing to be Democrats must be forgotten as long as the enemy are in the line of battle. There will be no division, and they who the opposition call Administration men will support the ticket, or they will be unworthy of the name.—Cleveland National Democrat.

Beware of the Vidders, Samivel.—The widow of a Boston dry goods merchant caught a certain physician in her pretty toils—led him to hope—led him to propose and then—wiped her weeping eyes, and said that she should always esteem him as a friend. Presently she re-opened a correspondence, says the Boston Ledger, visited him at his office in Beacon street, talked with him, laughed with him, flirted with him, and a second time refused him. Then reason began to totter, flickered for a while like an expiring lamp, and on Wednesday the last ray of intelligence left his brain. He became a raving maniac, fierce and cruel, and not able to contain his rage at the sight of a female's face. His first attack was upon a lady visitor at the house. He tore her clothes off and trampled them under foot. The frightened domestic rushed to the rescue, but the doctor demolished all who opposed him. He dashed his fists through mirrors—swept vases and clocks from mantle peices—twisted off gas pipes—broke chairs and tables—dashed through a partition, and was only prevented from doing further violence by the arrival of two officers from the Second Station, who removed him from the house and kept him locked up untill his friends sent him to an insane asylum, where he is now confined, and considered incurable.

Utah News.—A Utah correspondent of the San Francisco Evening Bulletin gives the following items of Mormon news:

Brigham Young has not been seen out half a dozen times during the last six months—probably not feeling safe, and fearing to meet the fate of his predecessor, Joe Smith, "shot from his own people." It is said that he is preparing to depart for unknown regions, where he can enjoy his freedom and recruit his health, which is said to be declining. It is also currently reported that several of the leading men are about to apostatize and preparing to [illegible]. Heber Kimball's son William [illegible] Brigham's right hand man [illegible]. This is causing [illegible].

It is also said that a number of [illegible] collecting money from the [illegible] ostensibly with a view of going east and buying goods, &c.—an easy way of raising the wind; and if successful, depend upon it, this valley will never see them again.

It is also stated that William Kimball's third wife shot at his first, and on his interfering she told him he would get served the same way if he did not like it. He has since sent her off, as well as the others, and retains only the first one; in consequence of which, together with the above he had a row with his father H[illegible].

An attempt to assassinate a Gentile was made a few nights since; but fortunately the knife only grazed the skin beneath his shirt bosom. We shall have plenty of excitement here shortly, when the bull whackers begin to arrive with the trains. The gamblers and the Mormon police always go armed with pistol and knife. I expect every day to hear of a shooting affair or two.

Louis Napoleon.—The Paris correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune says:

Public opinion is awakening even in benumbed France, and every class of population is feeling that Louis Napoleon is ruining the country. Complaints are made by all the tradesmen and workmen here that they are doing nothing. All the noble families of the Faubourg Saint Germain are still in the country. There is more money idle in the Bank of England than there has been before for six years. The public debt of France has increased above fifty per cent. since Louis Napoleon became Emperor. It was $1,150,000,000, and is now $2,175,000,000, and although the country is in a state of profound peace the expenditure annually exceeds the receipts $70,000,000, with a tendency to rise; besides in this sum is not included the vast amount of debt he has forced all the cities of France to incur to give employment to the working classes!

Rules for Rail-Road Travelers.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin, one of the most useful practical papers that come to our table, has the following hints that are worth remembering:

Applicants for tickets on rail roads can be ejected from the cars if they do not offer the exact amount of fair, their Conductors are not bound to make change.

Passengers who lose their tickets can be ejected from the cars, unless they purchase a second one.

Passengers are bound to observe decorum in the cars, and are obliged to comply with all reasonable demands to show tickets. Standing upon the platform, or otherwise violating a rule of the company, renders a person liable to be put from the train.

No person has any right to monopolize more seats than he has paid for, and any article left on the seat, while the owner is temporarily absent, entitles him to the place on his return.

Speedy.—The new coalition of the New York Central, Hudson River, Lake Shore and Michigan Roads, against the New York and Erie, Pensylvania and New Jersey Central, for the through business of the West, is one of the most remarkable on record.

The Central trains will make the distance from Buffalo to Troy or Albany in ten hours, and to New York in fifteen hours, or about thirty-five miles an hour, including stopage—a most remarkable scheule of speed, and one that will involve extraordinary wear and tear of material.

Competition.—The "reckless competition" as it is termed by some of the "York" papers between the two main roads of that State, to secure the through trade of the West, is being roughly pitched into by some of those Journals. Some of them seem to think that the West alone will be benefited. Hear the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser:

The stockholders gain nothing. Admitting that they thus secure the business of the West; it avails nothing towards dividend. Are the people of this State the gainers? No. The merchants of Albany, Utica, Syracuse Rochester, Buffalo, or those of the various towns upon the Erie Road, will pay higher upon their local freights than hitherto. Except when the two roads come in immediate competition, fares will be no less. But the West will gain. Its produce will pour over our roads at prices far below the cost of corriage, and the roads, in the vain struggle to repair their loss, will assess local freights in the most exorbitant manner.

So far as the immence losses incurred by this competition are made up at all, they will be made up from the over-burdened citizens of New York, the farmer, the freighter, the merchant of every class and degree. Within a week we asked a merchant in Monroe County what rates of freight he paid. The figures he gave us were three times what the merchant of Buffalo pays, and more than three times the amount paid by the merchant in Detroit. This system of railroad management is striking at the root of the prosperity of the State. It increases the cost of the goods consumed by the farmer. It decreases by from five to ten per cent. the market value of his products.

It cripples all the smaller villages by rendering them unable to compete with cities where rail-road competition exists. It cripples the cities themselves by destroying their Western trade. The merchants of Toledo, of Detroit, of Indianapolis, of Cleveland, receive their goods from New York at a cost actually less than that paid by the merchants of Buffalo. When Buffalo pays thirty cents per hundred pounds, Chicago pays only twenty-five cents. How can we have a wholesale trade under such circumstances? How can the State at large endure this constant drain on its vitality?

When death is at the door, the remedy which would have saved life, if administered in time, comes too late. Do not trifle with disease. Rely upon it, that when the stomach will not digest the food—when faintness and lassitude prevade the system—when the sleep is disturbed, the appetite feeble, the mind lethargic, the nerves unnaturally sensitive, and the head confused—rely upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the powers of vitality are failing, and that, unless the mischief is promptly checked, life will be shortened as well as rendered miserable. Now we know it in a mass of testimony, greater than was ever before accumulated in favor of one remedy, that Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr C M Jackson, Philadelphia, will immediately abate, and in the end, entirely remove all these disorders as surely as a mathematical process will solve a problem. Who, then, will endure its agony and the risk of life, with health and safety within reach? See advertisement.

The great Drawback to persons emigrating to the extreme south and western country, is the fear they have of the Fever and Ague—the most direful of all diseases. Every day we hear of persons attacked by this disease and made helpless in a short time, without any means of affording relief. 1859.

The Cleveland Wool Depot

HAS been established over six years and it affords the subscribers much satisfaction to know that its merits are fully appreciated by those who have patronized it during this entire time. The change made one year ago in confining its sales to cash, has met with universal favor. It is proposed to continue the cash system and future consignors may rely on the same prompt return which characterized our last year's business. Perhaps not quite as high figures can be obtained by adhering strictly to cash, but it will insure prompt returns, and hundreds have assured us that they obtained from five to ten cents a pound more through the Depot than they were offered last Spring from other sources, and we believe this has been true every year excepting a few of the consignments during the Fall of 1857. It should, therefore, no longer remain a question in the minds of having Wool to dispose of, that this system of closely classifying and handling wool will prove the very best manner of selling wool which has yet been adopted.

Wool Growers or Merchants

Sacks will be sent as heretofore to those who may order.

To those wishing to realize on their wool as soon as shorn, advances will be made

AMOUNTING TO THE VALUE OF THE WOOL,

Providing the Consignors will allow them offered for sale at the first or early prices.

Cash advances will be made on receipt of Wool or Shipping Bill, as formerly.

We trust that the liberal Cash advances, the long experience in the Depot business, and established reputation of our grades among manufacturers, with undivided attention to our consignors' interests, will insure us a liberal patronage.

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

IT is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhea, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

FEVER AND AGUE.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

THE GREATEST

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Of the Age.

Mr. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds, a remedy that cures

Every Kind of Humor,

FROM

The worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possesion over one hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

TWO bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three or five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly erruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

One tablespoonful per day will prevent chills and fever.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

ROXBURY, MASS.

DEAR MADAM.—The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kinds of humors, is so well established by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skilful physicians and the most careful Druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice I do it with a full knowledge of its curative powers, in relieving all, and curing most of those diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother,

NURSING SORE MOUTH,

Is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessing to your husband and household.

In the more advanced stages of

it extends to the stomach, causing

DYSPEPSIA,

which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then to the inteitsnes and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

Your stomach is

RAW AND INFLAMED,

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibres of your body become relaxed. Then follow a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is particularly

ADAPTED TO CURE;

Halpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the hip joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also, that most excruciating of diseases, the

PILES,

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

you have both the preventative and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you any injury.

No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you can get and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day;—Children over ten years, dessert spoonful;—Children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

I. M. SINGER'S

Patent Sewing Machine,

of the State of Pennsylvania (except the counties of Erie, Aleghaney and Philadelphia) State of Wisconsin, and the northern part of Indiana.

THE world wide reputation of these machines renders puffing unnecessary. All who have used Singer's Machines testify to their superior merits over all others. Over 12 000 have been sold and are now in active operation, and not one has proved a failure! By simply changing the needle and thread the same machine will execute perfectly every variety of work, coarse or fine, on cloth or leather. From $200 to $500 a year can be cleared by an individual using this machine more than can be cleared by hand.

Singer has also brought out a new highly ornamented, which for beanty and expedition far surpasses all other Family Machines. These machines use two threats, forming a lock stitch in the centre of the goods sewed, and making a perfect back stitch on both sides of the cloth, which makes a seam much stronger and harder to rip than hand sewing, and dose not use more than two thirds as muoh thread as the chain stitch machine.

FAMILY MACHINE,

These machines are for sale by the undersigned, at his office on North Fifth Street, opposite Good's Hotel, Reading, Pennsylvania.

POETRY.

WHY BE UNHAPPY.

What's the use to be unhappy,
What's the use to fume and fret?
What's the use to look behind you,
Nursing up the vain regret.

What if life is clouded over,
With its sorrows dark and wild?
What if fortune does look sternly?
Hath she never sometimes smiled.

Why, if you must taste the bitter,
Will you fling the sweet away,
Fighting ever with the crosses
That you meet from day.

Why disquiet those around you,
With complaints you should suppress—
Weary those whom duty bids you
Still to comfort and to bless.

Look at yonder little insect,
Sporting in the sun's bright beams,
Listen now, and hear the music,
Of your laughing little streams.

Look at nature all around you,
And above, where'er you stray!
Mute creation's ever singing,
Happy I! it seems to say.

What's the use to be unhappy!
What's the use to fume and fret!
Pinch up courage, laugh at trifles,
And you may be happy yet.

A Kiss and its Consequences

Our boarding-house is not a common boarding-house, nor are our boarders common boarders. I do not by this wish to convey the idea that there is anything peculiarly uncommon about us or our house—only that we reside in an aristocratic portion of the town, and consider ourselves, on the whole, rather a select set.

But, however select a company may be, the fact that they are select is not an infallible proof that nothing disreputable can occur among them.

This has been especially proven in our case. We have just been deeply agitated, excited—shocked! Happily for the reputation of our place, the affair of which I speak had a gratifying termination.

In our boarding-house resides an inveterate old bachelor named Wigley. Mr Wigley is by no means such a person as some persons invariably represent old bachelors to be, neither in appearance nor disposition. He is a portly, middle-aged, good-natured, fun-loving, sociable fellow, and likes the society of ladies far better than three-fourths of the married men. Mr and Mrs. Pickleby are also of our company; the former a commission merchant, is a quiet and a very respectable sort of a man, exceedingly fond of his wife, and withal a little inclined to jealousy; the latter is a beautiful and affectionate creature, who dotes upon her husband, and isn't jealous at all.

One day, last week, Miss Celestia Nobbs—another of our borders, and a maiden lady of thirty five or thereabouts—heard a noise in the hall below, and stepping out of her apartment, she leaned over the banisters, to see what was the cause of it. She distended her stork-like neck to its utmost limit, and listened with breathless interest.

"I am so glad you are come!" she heard a voice which she at once recognized as Mrs Pickleby's, exclaim; and the next moment she saw that lady pass beneath her to meet a gentleman, of whom she could get but a partial view. Then a loud kiss was given, and Mrs. Pickleby said in a somewhat lower tone of voice:

"Come with me—come to my room; Mr. Pickleby is at his office, and I am alone"

Then both started to ascend the stairs, and Miss Nobbs hastened to withdraw to her room, but not before she had caught a better glimpse of the man who was with Mrs. Pickleby and discovered in him, as she thought, no other than Mr. Wigley. That gentleman had been absent in the country for a week, and she had seen him on his return, not more than an hour previous, enter the house.

Miss Celestia Nobbs is one of those pure and immaculate beings, the chief desire of whose hearts it is that nothing sinful shall occur on earth, and who, feeling themselves to be spotless philanthropy, as they seem to imagine, spend their time prying into affairs of other people, and dictating to them the course they should pursue.

"Ah! ah!" said the spinster, as she closed the door of her room, and walked on tip-toe to a seat, "it's come to this, has it? I always thought there was something more than everybody knew was going on between the two"

She sat for half an hour in deep meditation upon the matter, and then she arose and moved toward the door.

"If the wicked, shameless creature thinks," said Miss Nobbs, to herself, "if she has the faintest idea that such actions will be suffered in this house, she will find herself mistaken, I can assure her."

She heard the footsteps without, and as she passed into the hall, she saw Mr. Wigley descending the stairs, and heard him leave the house.

"Left her, have you?" she uttered under her breath. "Well, well, I never expected to witness such goings on—never! But you're found out—you'll know—both of you!"

She hastened to the room of Miss Dobbs, on the floor above. Miss Dobbs is a confidant of Miss Nobbs, a few years older than herself, and a few degrees thinner in person. Miss Nobbs was gratified to find Mrs. Briggs in company with her friend on this occasion. Mrs Briggs, I may as well state, is a widow lady of some twelve years standing, who had long endeavored—it is generally believed by nearly all in the house, to captivate and ensnare, in the meshes of matrimony, Mr. Wigley.

Miss Nobbs smiled mysteriously, as she entered, and carefully closing the door, she seated herself beside her friend.

"I am glad to find you together," said she, "for I have a thing of the greatest importance to make known."

"Do tell," exclaimed Miss Dobbs, with an eager air; "what is it?"

"Something you'll be surprised to know. Oh! it is the most wonderful thing in the world how deceptive some people can be! I never in my life——"

"But what is it?" cried both of the ladies in a breath.

"The most shameful goings on you ever witnessed, I'll be sworn! replied the excited virgin, in so expressive a manner that the curiosity of her listeners became unendurable. Then pausing a moment, to let her words take effect, Miss Nobbs looked solemnly from one to the other, and continued.

"Will you believe it, ladies, when I tell you that I saw with my own eyes Mrs. Pickleby in the hall below with a man?"

"You don't say!" uttered Miss Dobbs.

"Shocking!" exclaimed Mrs Briggs.

"True, every word; but that isn't all. I heard them give a kiss; and Mrs. Pickleby invited him to her room!"

"Gracious heavens!" ejaculated the listeners simultaneously, elevating their hands in horror and surprise.

"Yes, she told him she was all alone—that Mr Pickleby was not at home—and so they went off together. Oh! it's almost incredible, such shameful conduct!"

"The immodest, unblushing thing!" exclaimed the widow, indignantly.

"Such wickedness!" echoed Miss Dobbs. "But who was she with?"

"Mr. Wigley."

"Is it possible!"

Mrs. Briggs was stricken dumb by the announcement of the name, and for a few moments gave some tokens of an intention to swoon; but thinking better of it she refrained.

"This is a terrible thing!" said Miss Nobbs, earnestly, after enjoying fully the sensation she had created.

"Terrible, indeed!" uttered Miss Dobbs.

"And not to be borne!" exclaimed the indignant widow, her face assumed a very erubescent tint as she spoke.

"It must not be borne," said the spinister; "the reputation of the house will not allow such things to pass unnoticed."

"And our own reputation," chimed the other maiden.

"Think what we should be made to suffer," cried the widow, "if it should become known that we live in the midst of such iniquitous scenes."

"Our characters must not be trifled with thus," exclaimed Miss Nobbs, with a determined air, "and this thing must not be allowed to stop here."

"Poor Mr. Pickleby!" sighed Miss Dobbs, "I pity him from my heart."

"And so do I," said the widow, "for I dare say he has not the least suspicion of his wife's perfidy."

"He must know it," uttered Miss Nobbs speaking in a low and determined tone of voice.

"You are right, he must know it; but how?" inquired Miss Dobbs.

"We must tell him"

"Will it be proper?"

"It will be doing our duty"

"Yes," said Mrs. Briggs, "it will be but the performance of a Christian duty. We must tell him."

"And I, for one, am ready to go and perform that duty," remarked Miss Nobbs, with a meek and resigned look, as if she had taken it upon herself to suffer at the stake.

"And I," said the widow.

"Oh, I will accompany you; I am sure I only want to do what is right," said Miss Dobbs, submissively.

'Then let us go at once.'

'Yes, the sooner he has his mind disabused in respect to his wife the better.

Forth according, the immaculate trio sailed as soon as they could make the necessary preparations, and bent their course toward the store of Mr. Pickleby, in the lower part of the city.

The merchant was busily engaged in the transaction of some business when he saw the three ladies approach him. He suspended operations and inquired what happy circumstances had brought them hither.

'It is a sad errand on which we are come,' said Miss Nobbs, shaking her head with a melancholy air.

'A dreadful errand!' affirmed Miss Dobbs, dubiously.

'A more dreadful errand you could not imagine!' added Mrs. Briggs, making a strong effort to shudder.

'For mercy's sake, ladies,' cried the alarmed man, turning pale, 'what is it?'

'In the first place, Mr. Pickleby,' said the first spinster, 'we wish to assure you that you have our warmest sympathies—that we feel for you.'

'From the very bottom of our hearts,' added the older maiden.

'And nothing but a deep sense of duty,' remarked the widow, 'has induced us to take the step we have in order to reveal to you such distressful news.'

'What is it! what is it!' exclaimed the merchant frantically. 'Don't keep me in suspense; what has happened?'

'Your wife,' uttered Miss Nobbs, in a significant tone.

'Yes, Mr. Pickleby, your wife!' repeated the other two in a breath.

Mr. Pickleby staggered backwards, while a look of dreadful terror overspread his features.

'My wife!' he gasped 'what of my wife! is she sick? is she dead?'

Miss Nobbs closed her eyes, and shook her head slowly.

'Then why do you alarm me so? what would you have me to understand?'

'Is there not something that, to your noble mind, that is worse than death?'

'Eh! what—what do you mean?'

'Dishonor.'

'But Mrs. Pickleby, she—she—she—'

'Mr. Pickleby, your wife is deceiving you'.

'Cruelly, shamefully deceiving you!' ejaculated Miss Dobbs.

'Undoubted, and in a manner not to be borne,' said the widow

Mr. Pickleby looked from one to the other in speechless agony.

Briefly,' said Miss Nobbs, while you are absent, your wife is receiving the attention of other men.'

'We have noticed with grief,' continued Miss Nobbs, 'that one of our sex should so far forget her modesty as to do as she has done.'

'And for that reason,' added Mrs. Briggs, 'as I have already said, we determined to acquaint you with the fact.'

'How do you know this?' cried the merchant, in a voice of rage. 'Are you certain of what you say?'

'Quite!' answered Miss Nobbs; 'I saw your wife this morning with Mr Wigley, in the hall; heard them kiss; and together they went to your room.'

'Wigley! Do you mean to say that Wigley is the man?'

'Wigley! repeated Miss Nobbs, emphatically.

'The odious villain!' cried Pickleby, seizing his hat as he spoke. 'He shall repent it—he shall repent it—bitterly.'

He rushed from the store as he spoke, leaving his informants in the most unceremonious manner. They quietly proceeded homeward, congratulating each other that they had been evidently the means of putting down a giant of iniquity.

Mr. Wigley has an office in Broadway. Mr. Pickleby, soon after his interview with the ladies, stood in the presence of Mr Wigley, who smiled, and offered his hand to the other. Mr. Pickleby, with every expression of scorn and hate, declined to touch it.

'Permit me to inform you,' said the merchant, almost choking with rage, 'that I know all!'

Mr. Wigley looked at the speaker with astonishment.

'Yes, sir,' continued the excited Pickleby, 'I know all, and I'm not such a paltry coward as to suffer it to pass with impunity'

Whereupon, before the other could utter a word, he gave Mr. Wigley such a blow on the head as to stagger him not a little, and, before he could recover from surprise, it was followed up by another blow on the other side of his head, which made his ears ring in a most wonderful manner.

This was rather too much for the good nature of Mr. Wigley, and so he nerved himself to the task and commenced a retaliation. Being nearly double the weight of his antagonist, he soon had it all his own way; and, to be brief, in less than ten minutes Mr. Pickleby cried loudly for quarter, admitting himself to be as well whipped a man as he ever encountered.

'And now,' said Wigley, after helping his adversary to his feet, 'now, that our affair is settled, please tell me what I have flogged you for?'

'For intriguing with my wife, as you well know,' replied the defeated but still indignant man.

'It is a lie!' said Wigley

'It is the truth,' responded Pickleby, 'and I can prove it.'

'You can't do it. Come we will go and see Mrs. Pickleby herself, and show me a witness if you can.

'Very well, it is just what I desire.'

Mr. Pickleby washed the blood from his face, arranged his disordered garments as well as he could, and accompanied Mr. Wigley home.

Miss Nobbs, Miss Dobbs, and Miss Briggs were called, and an explanation demanded by the accused Wigley. Miss Nobbs persisting in the truth of what she uttered, the whole party, at the request of the injured husband, proceeded to his wife's apartment.

Mrs. Pickleby, to the surprise of all, was not alone, a man was with her. As soon as Mr. Pickleby saw him he smiled, and advanced and shook him by the hand.

'My brother,' said he, turning to those who had followed him.

Miss Nobbs' face became crimson.

'I fear,' she stammered, 'that I have unintentionally made a mistake. This must be the gentleman I saw, and he is so like Mr. Wigley that I was led to believe he was no other. I beg pardon.

As the trio ladies took their departure, Mr Pickleby was heard to utter divers maledictions upon the heads of all meddling, busy-tongued scandal-mongers; but he soon recovered his temper, explained the whole affair to his wife, joined heartily in the laugh that was raised at his expense, and ended by inviting Wigley to join their party that evening at a game of whist.

The Divisions of the Democracy—How to Heal Them.

The Washington States, in expatiating, a few days ago, on the division and distraction of the Democracy, stated its purpose was to impress the party with the necessity of immediate organization for the contest in 1860. It is obvious and undeniable that except our scattered forces be rallied, and a plan of action be agreed upon, we cannot hope to win in the struggle.

To the end, therefore, of union and harmony among the Democracy, we have to suggest the cultivation of a more tolerant and fraternal feeling than has prevailed since the advent of the present Administration. Without imputing blame to either party—it is no time for recrimination—we are free to confess that neither the Lecompton nor anti-Lecompton have manifested sufficient forbearance of each other's peculiarities of opinion. Nor have the Administration been as indulgent as casual eccentricities among their adherents as they might have afforded, considering their solid strength with this country. On the other hand, we have lamented the excessive irritability of those who thrown into momentary resistance to the policy of the President. Let there be an end of these jealousies and resentments. The Lecompton question is an extinct issue. With wise men the past is of use only as it affords lessons for the direction of their future conduct. Let us then revert to the animosities of the Kansas controversy for no other purpose than to be admonished of the necessity for greater conciliation hereafter. With the explanation of obsolete issues, let the unamiable feelings with which they are associated be likewise buried in oblivion. Let us cast no look behind, but press forward for the prize of victory with the admirable zeal and energy hitherto characteristic of the Democracy.

Another indispensable condition to the organization of the party is the recognition of a leader. By the voice of the people Mr. Buchanan has been chosen as the representative man of the Democracy. We have burdened him with the responsibility of power, and we owe him a generous support in the conduct of the Government.—Not that we should approve every measure of his administration, nor even be silent when we dissent from his policy. We mean only to inculcate among Democrats the duty of exhibiting the most indulgent spirit which their conscientious convictions will allow. Prompt to applaud and reluctant to condemn, should be the disposition of every Democrat toward a Democratic Executive. On the other hand, it is obligatory upon the President to be tolerant of immaterial differences among his followers. If they support his policy in the main, he can require nothing more. If they are obliged by a sense of duty to oppose his Administration on a particular point, he should respect their sincerity and applaud their independence. To exact a rigid conformity to his own standard of opinion, would be an excess of tyranny incompatible with the spirit of Democratic faith and practice. The utmost obligation of the party to the President, is to give him the benefit of a friendly partiality. The engagement is reciprocal; and it is incumbent on him to be indulgent to the errors of individual judgment.

It is essential, in the third place, to the effective organization of the party, that Democrats should be united by some common bond of principle. But this condition is impractical, if equal importance is not to be attached to every article of belief, and if spurious tests may be incorporated into our confessions of faith, at the pleasure of any presumptuous commentator. The dogmatic doctrine of the party is expounded in the Cincinnati Platform, and we deny authority to the President or any other person to enlarge its basis of principle by the addition of a single issue. In the interpretation of the text of our creed, we claim the utmost independence of individual judgment; otherwise the conscience of members will be constrained by the dictation of an irresponsible authority. The President himself is the creature of the party; and as he can deduct nothing from its declaration of doctrine, so neither can he interpolate so much as a solitary syllable into its platform of principle. Upon that platform he stands on a level with every other Democrat, and is equally responsible to the representative power of the party—the National Convention.

We are persuaded, if these suggestions are heeded, the organization of the Democratic party may be restored to its original strength and soundness. The prevalence of a more fraternal spirit among members; the exhibition of a more friendly feeling for the Administration; great tolerance of individual opinion, and a cordial combination on the basis of fundamental principle with toleration in regard to superfluous and non essential issues—these are the only indispensable conditions of union and harmony in the Democratic party. If observed, they will soothe dissension, reconcile differences, repair the schism of the party, and infallibly insure its success in the decisive struggle of 1860.

The Tariff of 1857.—Mr. Vallandigham, of Ohio, made an excellent speech in the late House of Representatives upon the tariff question. He exposes the sharp practice which the manufacturers of New England were guilty of when they procured the passage of the tariff of 1857. There is nothing in that tariff to commend it to the agricultural interest, against which, it invariably discriminates, as we have taken frequent occasions within the last year, to show. Mr. Vallandigham's justly said:

"But I return to the direct question. I am no friend to the act of 1857. It is peculiarly a manufacturer's tariff, and a highly protective tariff, too; in my judgment, for them the most 'protective' tariff ever enacted. It 'protects' in two modes, for there are two modes of 'protection.' It admits the raw material free, and it lays also a duty upon the manufactured articles. Never was there sharper practice than in the passage of that act. It is entitled 'An act reducing the duty on imports;' and it does reduce duties, and the reduction is apparently great. Revenue it certainly has reduced. But, mark you, sir—how does that reduction work? Select the single article of wool. Under the act of 1846 all wool paid thirty per cent. But now wool, under twenty cents a pound, is free, and manufactures of wool reduced from twenty-four to nineteen per cent. Thus the manufacturer yields six and gains thirty per cent, by the dexterous maneuver of the 3d of March, 1857. And thus, too, are the interests of the producer, and especially of the agriculturist of the West, sacrificed for the benefit of the manufacturing interests of New England; and to-day New England would have no change in the tariff."

Venerable Shingles.—There are now shingles upon the roof of the old Farmington (Conn.) church which have been there eighty-two years, and are still serviceable. The Hartford Courant says that in 1776 the builders of the church chartered a vessel to go to Maine for shingles, and she brought some that are eighteen inches long and were three quarters of an inch thick at the butt. Put on with six inches lap, they are not half worn through to day, and are good for many years longer.

☞ We once heard two boys who were boasting of what their father had. 'Well,' said one, 'I'll tell you one thing you haven't got, that we are going to have—we're going to have a cupola on our house!' 'Pshaw!' said the other. 'I don't care a cent for that, that's nothing. I heard Pa tell Ma, at breakfast table, this morning, that we were going to have a mortgage on our house!'

A Contrast.—In the Rome (N. Y.) Daily Sentinel, we find the following admirable contrast of the Democratic with the Republican party:

One great secret of success of the Republican party, is because of the remembrance by their officials when in power, of their friends who placed them there. The Republican officials do everything when in power to reward their friends and build up the party at home. It is well worth while to contrast the course of the Republican State official in this State, with most of the democratic State officials. The former are constantly devising means to reward their friends remunerate the press, and remember with gratitude the services rendered by their political friends. Most of the Democratic State officials on the contrary seldom think of their friends—don't seem to know that there is a Democratic paper in the State, outside of Albany or New York. All right; we think if some of those officials wish to get in office again they will have a sweet time with the people and the press of the rural districts. We speak only what is the universal feeling among the Democracy in the country towns.

☞ What is true of New York is equally true of Indiana. Not only do Democrats, when they obtain power, neglect their party papers, except a few favored pets, but actually vote large shares of their patronage to the most violent opposition papers, and threaten to punish and persecute all those Democratic members of the Legislature and others who dare to speak out in opposition to these nefarious doings!

Minnesota Banking.—The Bank Department of the Minnesota Government has lately decided that the State Railroad bonds of the Cedar Valley Road may be used as the basis of banking, at a valuation of ninety five cents on the dollar! Our readers remembering that the same bonds are now being hawked around the Eastern cities without finding purchasers at fifty per cent discount, will agree with us that the banks of Minnesota, without specie or other available assets, rests upon a somewhat sandy foundation. Our authority says that arrangements are nearly completed to issue three hundred thousand to five hundred thousand dollars of this "created" currency within the next sixty days. We are also told that the Transit and Southern Minnesota R. R. companies will issue a mortgage to the state upon the strength of which another batch of currency is to be put afloat. The people of Minnesota are sowing the seeds of a full harvest of bitter fruit. When harvest time comes, there will be no complaint that there is not a large crop.—Press and Tribune.

Decreased Production of Wheat.—At a meeting of the Philadelphia Society for Promoting Agriculture, Dr. Elwyn called the attention of the members to the fact that the wheat crops of the country were fast diminishing, as far as the number of bushels raised to the acre was concerned. He stated that in Ohio, a state but little over fifty years old, the crop had fallen off from forty bushels to the acre to about sixteen, while in the best portions of New York, where thirty bushels used to be considered a fair crop, only twelve bushels are now raised. The falling off in other States had been equally marked; but, while this was the fact with the wheat crop, he was glad to know that the amount of corn produced to the acre has largely increased and was still increasing enormously; therefore, the people of this country were in no danger of starving, but he could not say so much of France and England, who would year after year, look to this country for their supply of wheat. He considered the subject an important one, and he hoped some means would be adopted to obtain a correct information. It was suggested by a member that a committee should be appointed to gather statistics, but this proposition did not seem to meet with much favor, as the only possible way of getting information would be from the last census of the United States, and these were pronounced utterly worthless, as the facts were obtained by those who paid but little attention to the subject. Mr. Gowen thought the only way to get the information would be by agitating the matter in each State and corresponding with each county society.—Louisville Journal.

One of the Mayors.—The worthy Mayor of a Western city, well known to a host of admiring and warm friends, had, 'a case' before him, in the person of an individual taken up on suspicion of offering a counterfeited note of hand of a well known firm for sale. He could not prove its genuineness, and was committed to jail until information could be had from the parties. When it came it was entirely satisfactory; the note was good, and the young man's character was put beyond doubt. The mayor had him brought to his office, and thus addressed him:—

'Young man, it is my duty to congratulate you on being so fortunate, for had the note been a counterfeit you certainly would have been sent to the penitentiary; you may go, and let it be a lesson to you.'

The young man demurred to the sentence, it being proved that the note came directly into the his hands from the makers of it, and he insisted that he had been badly treated, by being put in prison for several days days, and his character aspersed.

'Not at all,' says our worthy dignitary; "you have had a fair investigation, and it is very fortunate for you that the note proves to be a genuine one; for assuredly, you would have been sent to the penitentiary if it had proved a counterfeit. Now, go and sin no more."

H went—and our aforesaid mayor cannot be made to see the transaction in any other light than as a fortunate thing for the young man that the note was genuine!

'Hold on Dar.'—The Piqua (S. C.) Register has the following in a recent issue.

Quite a revival is now in progress at the African church in this city. We were present a few evenings since, and witnessed with much gratification their earnest devotion.—Of the incidents we cannot fail to note one: a brother, was eloquently supplicating the throne, when another called out in stentorian tones:

'Who dat prayin' ober dar?'

'Dat's ole brudder Mose.'

'Hole on dare brudder Mose, you let brudder Ryan pray, he's better 'quainted with de Laud dan you am.'

Brudder Mose dried up and brudder Ryan prayed.'

A Rat in Bed.—One night last week a lady up town in New York was awaken from sleep by a rat pulling her hair. She made a brush at the intruder, when he fled, but shortly after she felt him crawling under her night dress. The lady made a spring at the immodest fellow, and caught him in the folds of her dress, and then, with a bound and a scream, such as females only can make, she aroused the household, who supposed a robber or midnight assassin to be in the house. There was great commotion among the inmates till the cause of the outcry became known, and then, when the lady loosened her grasp, the rat fell lifeless upon the floor, having perished in her hands.

Moral—ladies old enough to get married should not sleep alone.

☞ 'Why don't you hold your head up in the world as I do?' asked a haughty lawyer of a sterling old farmer. 'Squire,' said the farmer, 'see that field of grain; the well filled head hang down, while those only that are empty stand upright.'

When a young man is dependent upon his daily toil for his income, and marries a lady who does not know how to make a loaf of bread, or mend a garment, I wonder if he is not lacking somewhere, say toward the top for instance.

When a man receives a periodical or newspaper weekly, and takes great delight in reading them but neglects to pay for them, I wonder!

Buy a trunk Pat, said a dealer. And what for should I buy a trunk? rejoined Pat. To put your clothes in, was the reply. And go naked? exclaimed Pat. The divil a bit!

By order of City Committee
F. P. RANDALL, Chairman.
March 26th, 1859.

Amendment to the City Charter null and void—Mr. Gregory, the city Attorney of Lafayette, has given an opinion that under the act for amending the act for the incorporation of cities passed at the last session of the Legislature, the present members of the City Council will hold over; and that one Councilman for each ward will have to be elected in 1860, and another in 1862; and also that the City Clerk, Marshal, Street Commissioner, Treasurer, and Assessor will each hold their offices one year longer—leaving nothing but the Mayor to elect at this election.

It is said that most of the lawyers who have looked into the matter, agree with Mr. Gregory in his opinion. We do not feel competent to give a legal opinion on this question, and will not undertake to say that the words of the law may not be so twisted as to bear the construction placed on them by Mr. Gregory; but as the Legislature evidently did not intend any such thing, but designed that the Council and other City Officers should be elected this year, and thence regularly every two years after, we contend that it would be better to carry out the obvious meaning of the law, and pay no attention to the technicalities of the lawyers.

Our Common Council will have the matter under consideration on Tuesday evening next, and we presume decide what officers we are to elect.

This opinion of Mr. Gregory does not seem to be looked upon as of much force. We notice that in Indianapolis and other cities, full tickets have been nominated for all the offices intended by this act to be filled at the election on the first Tuesday in May next.

The New Albany Ledger thinks it would be the wisest policy to "elect all the councilmen, so that the lots may be drawn as provided in the amended charter, and also the other officers, so that all can come in and go out together." In this view we fully concur. Any other course would lead to innumerable difficulties.

We commend the following from the Ledger, to the attention of our Council, as showing that Mr. Gregory's opinion is not to be implicitly relied on. So gross an error as the one here pointed out, should materially shake confidence in the rest of his arguments and deductions.

An Opinion that's not worth much.—In his opinion on the effects of the amendments to the City Charter, Mr Gregory illustrates his position by stating that Gov. Wright was elected Governor under the old constitution for three years, but that the new constitution coming into force in the meantime, making the Governor's term four years, he (Gov. Wright) "served out a term of four years under an election for three."

Mr Gregory is unfortunate in his illustration. Gov. Wright was first elected, under the old constitution in August, 1849, for three years, and served from December 1849 to January 1853—a period of three years and one month—not four years as Mr Gregory states. The cause of his serving the extra month was the change of the time of meeting of the Legislature from December to January. In 1852 he was reelected Gov under the new constitution, for four years, which he served out.

Mr Gregory may be a good lawyer, and, considering he has been a State Senator and a candidate for Congress, ought to be posted up in the political history of his own State, but such appears not to be the case.—N. A. Ledger.

Leasing of the Canal.—A meeting of the business men, capitalists, and others interested in the Wabash & Erie Canal was held at Lafayette, to make some arrangements for transferring or leasing that portion of the Canal extending from Terre Haute to the State Line. A favorable proposition was made by the Trustees, which with some amendments, was accepted, and a contract in accordance therewith prepared, which will without doubt be consummated, and this portion of the Canal be leased to a company, consisting, as we are informed, chiefly of citizens of this place.

The lessees are to nominate all their own officers and fix the compensation, and have general control of the repairs, collection and police of the canal. In consideration of this, the Trustees give to them the entire toll of that division of the canal, and agree that the rate of local tolls shall be established by them. As, however, the Trustees are the only parties authorized to collect tolls and keep up the regulations of the canal; all the business must necessarily be done in their name.

☞ The Commissioners to select a location for the new State Prison were in this city from Saturday till Tuesday last. They expressed a very favorable opinion as to the eligibility of this place for the site of the prison. We understand Wm. Rockhill, Esq., offered his beautiful tract of land on the North side of the Feeder, facing the junction, at the price per acre ($100) to which the act of the Legislature limits the commissioners in purchasing the site. This would be a very desirable location, and is offered for less than one-half its real value.

There appears to have been quite a change come over the feelings of our citizens in regard to the location of the prison here, since the visit of the commissioners. Last week we stated that no one desired it—and this we believe was true at that time; but this week almost every one we have heard express an opinion is strongly in its favor. We cannot say that we much desire it; but if it should be decided that Fort Wayne is the best location, we have no objections to urge. There are doubtless many disadvantages attendant on having such an institution; but it cannot be denied that it also has its advantages, and may add much to our commercial interests. Time will tell which preponderates.

Louisville Election.—The Know Nothings have again succeeded by violence and bloodshed in keeping democrats from the polls, and have elected their ticket, but by greatly reduced majorities—their average majority not exceeding 300. About 700 voters, mostly democrats, stayed from the polls. The bloody reign of Sam in that city is about at an end, and this may be looked upon as his last dying struggle. Next fall the democrats will carry the city. The democrats carried the 1st, 2d, and 3d wards by small majorities.

Several German and Irish citizens were ruthlessly beaten and knocked down by the rowdies, and several shots were fired; a man had his leg shattered and another had his arm broken, but fortunately no person was killed.

Probability of Peace in Europe.—Another arrival from England yesterday brings intelligence that Austria, France, England and the other great powers of Europe have agreed upon holding a conference at Aix-la-Chappelle, at which an effort will be made to adjust all existing differences on the basis of the treaty of Vienna of 1815. Notwithstanding all the bluster that has been made, and the immense warlike preparations that have been going on, the despots appear afraid to commence hostilities. The feverish state of public feeling throughout Europe, and the imminent danger that the first gun fired would be the signal for a general revolutionary movement, have admonished the rulers that the only safety for their crowns will be found in keeping peace with each other. The probabilities now are decidedly in favor of peace.

Wayne Township Election.—On Monday last, at our township election, C. A. Rekers, dem., was elected Trustee. The Republicans nominated C. Anderson as their candidate, and made great calculations on electing him,—but, as is the usual case here, they failed for the want of votes. Rekers' vote was 625, and Anderson's 490. A strong effort was made to bring out the Republican vote, and nearly the whole strength of that party was at the polls. The Democrats could easily have polled 200 or 300 more votes if they had been required.

J P Hedges, F J Frank, A T Hedges, and H S Cosgrove were elected Constables.

John Burt was elected Road Supervisor in the 1st district; Asa Fairfield, in the 2nd; T Bolger in the 5th; and A Crance in the 7th.

Dr. P. G. JONES, an old resident of the city, who "fit, bled, and died" for his country on the ensanguined plains of Mexico, is a candidate for Mayor of the city; and as a matter of course, Squire Dubois, who is always ready when there is an office to fill, is also on the track. They both belong to the opposition party, and will divide the vote pretty equally—though we think the Doc. will come out ahead; for while it is objected that the squire will be blind to the interests of the city, it is universally conceded that the Doctor can see double, and would therefore watch over our affairs with Argus-like vigilance.

Change of Time.—Another change has been made in the time of the Toledo & Wabash Railroad. The trains now leave our depot, going West, at 2 35 A. M. and 2 15 P. M. Going East, at 4.10 A. M. and 11.55 A. M.

The night Express Train on this road has a sleeping car, with the comfortable arrangements of a first class hotel. This is a convenience which speaks well for the determination of the officers of the road to keep up with all improvements for the comfort of passengers.

Additional Train on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railroad.—On and after to-morrow, three daily trains will pass over this road—Leaving the depot at Fort Wayne, going west, at 2 30 A.M.; 11 00 A.M.; 1 01 P.M. Going east, at 1 16 A.M.; 11 55 A.M., and 1 52 P.M.

☞ The rear wall of a Catholic Church in Fort Wayne, Indiana, is near a railroad, and on Sunday last a train ran off the track and demolished about twenty feet of the structure, but did no other serious damage.

☞ We find the above in the State Sentinel and copy it as an article of news for our citizens, who are not aware of any such catastrophe having occurred. There are however two or three trifling inaccuracies which it may be as well to correct. In the first place there is no Catholic Church here which is near a railroad. Secondly, a train running off the track would have to travel near a quarter of a mile, passing over ditches and buildings before it could reach the church. Thirdly—no such accident happened. The whole story is a stupid hoax, probably got up on the first of April.

The State Printing Bargain. At a meeting of the Democracy of Washington Co., held at the Court House in Salem, on the 29th ult., the course of Mr. Heffren, on the State printing question, was fully endorsed by his constituents, and Walker's bargain denounced as corrupt and disgraceful, and an insult to the Democracy of the State.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, John C. Walker, the State printer-elected by the last Legislature, having since the adjournment of the Legislature, published a lengthly communication in the State Sentinel, assailing the course of Hon Horrace Heffren, our Senator, upon the printing question; and, whereas, it has been directly charged that said Walker did agree to divide the profits of said office with the New Albany Tribune, and which said Walker has not denied. Therefore,

Resolved, That we denounce the said bargain as corrupt and disgraceful to said Walker, and a stigma and insult to the Democracy of Washing county, as well as of the State.

Resolved, That the course pursued by Hon Horrace Heffren, upon the printing question, in the last Legislature, meets our hearty approbation, and that we hereby endorse his whole course upon that subject.

GOOD BREAD is considered the staff of life, and it may therefore be interesting for our readers to know that they can be daily supplied at their own houses with the very best of bread, cakes, crackers, &c., by Mr. X. Yabroff, who has established quite a high reputation by the uniform excellence of his manufacture. See his advertisement.

EVANS & CO'S. Store, which by the way, is one of the best in the state, is again filled to overflowing with everything calculated to please and adorn the fairer sex. There is a full supply of all articles usually kept in stores, and in addition an unrivalled assortment of the most beautiful fancy articles, notions, &c. &c. Every thing new, fashionable, and beautiful may be found here, and can be bought so cheap, that it is needless to look elsewhere. As a matter of course, the inducements here offered to buyers are becoming well known; the store is crowded with customers, and groups of smiling ladies may be seen in the vicinity at all hours. The packages they carry home with them satisfactorily account for the pleasure depicted on their countenances.

Important to All.—In our paper of to-day, Mr Silas J. Lee, of Chicago, announces to the public that he has on hand, and is prepared to supply the trade with one of the best assortments of French and German Essences and Extracts ever imported to this country. In manufacturing, flavoring and coloring Wines, Liquors and Cordials it is said to be unequalled. Read the advertisement, and apply for a price list as directed.

Wisconsin Election.—Lynde, Democrat, has about three thousand majority in Milwaukie for Judge of the Supreme Court. The returns show about the same comparative party vote as last fall. The result is doubtful.

Let the Germans Speak.—The German Republicans of Massachusetts have issued an address to the people of the United States, commenting upon the recent action of the Black Republican Legislature of that State, which put an amendment to the constitution depriving them of the right to vote until they have been there seven years, in which they say:

"We, citizens of German descent will have nothing more to do with the Republican party, we will never more lend our help to elevate a party to power which tramples us under foot."

Keeping up a Stiff Upper Lip.—At the recent election in Cleveland, the republicans made a tolerably clean sweep—electing every thing but the grave digger. Gray, of the Plaindealer, instead of grumbling over the defeat, makes the most out of the little he had to crow over, and thus glorifies over the democratic success in the Sexton's election. He certainly puts the best face on the matter that the circumstances would admit of:

[Engraving of the American flag, with the motto, "We've met the enemy and we're thems!"]

Victorious Victory!
TRIUMPHANT TRIUMPH!!
GREAT DOIN'S!!!
Democratic Sexton!
Democratic Dead Body Superintendent!!
Democratic Grave Yard Manager!!!
Democratic Cemetery Keeper!!!!
Democrat c Grave Digger!!!!!
GLORY—GLORY—GLORY—GLORY!

☞ It is our proud pleasure to announce that the above important offices are Democratic to the back bone. They are offices of very grave importance, and the only ones we calculated on filling. The grave yards have been in the hands of the Republicans long enough. The Democracy determined to have the management of the Cemeteries themselves. No good democrats can be buried by a Black Republican Sexton without feelings of shame and disgust. For one we would never consent to such a thing, whether there was a drop of blood in our veins or not. The office of Sexton, then, was what we battled for in this momentous canvass, and our triumph has been at once majestic and brilliant. The city has been redeemed, and the Republicans would be ashamed of themselves if they hadn't long ago got over being ashamed of anything. Democrats needn't go away from home when they die hereafter to be buried respectably. Let the Black Republicans wince—let them howl with rage—we've got charge of their dead bodies!! The Mayoralty and Marshalship, and other trifling offices they may have in welcome. They may have their Scenterberry—we mean their Coffinter—no, we mean their Crawberry—no, we don't exactly know what we do mean, but they may have all of 'em—it shall be our proud duty and pleasure to burry them! Herafter we shall regulate dead bodies in our own way, subject only to the Constitution of the United States. This is in accordance with the Kansas Nebraska William. This is Popular Sovereignty. Bring out the Big Gun! Let the Canon roar! Fetch forth the Male Fowl! Let Bonfires be kindled on Scranton's Bottom! "We've met the enemy and we're thems!"

CINCINNATI, April 5.

The city ticket elected yesterday by an average majority of 1,000 for the Opposition Councilmen elected—10 Opposition to 6 Democrats.

CLEVELAND, April 5.

Sender, Republican, elected Mayor yesterday, and the entire Republican ticket is elected without doubt, though the vote is not entirely counted.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.

Nearly full returns give Filley, for Mayor, upward of 2,500 over Bogg, Democrat, and 4,500 over Wyman, American.

Filley's plurality must be increased 3,000

The Republicans elected their whole city ticket, and have a large majority in the Council.

DETROIT, April 5.

The election yesterday for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court passed off quietly. The returns from the interior of the State show considerable Republican gains, and indicate the election of George Martin, the Republican candidate, by over 10,000 majority.

Connecticut Election.

HARTFORD, April 5.

CHICAGO, April 6.

The election yesterday, for Judges and Clerks of the Superior Court, resulted in the success of the entire Republican ticket, by an average majority of 2,000. The vote was 7,000 less than at the March election.

WASHINGTON, March 31.

From all that can be learned it is not unsafe to say that if the statements relative to Sir Wm Gore Ousley's alleged conduct in Nicaragua are correct, he has violated not only his own instructions, but the solemn understanding between the British Governments and that of the United States.

If the facts are as stated, the President, it is said, notwithstanding the refusal of Congress to grant him extraordinary powers to protect the rights and property of citizens of the United States, will exact a conformity with whatever may have been the written stipulations between the two governments respecting Sir Ousley's mission.

The recent outrage upon the vessels of the Atlantic and Pacific Steamship Company was to day brought to the attention of the government officials, who are reported to have said that the property of American citizens shall and will be protected. The prospects now are that additional vessels will be dispatched to Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, April 1.

The Union has an apparently semi-official article on the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, saying that the President has never changed his policy concerning it; that the American construction will be substantially carried into effect; that the Mosquito Protectorate and the Bay Islands will no doubt be surrendered to Nicaragua and Honduras respectively; that the substance of Sir William Gore Ouseley's instructions has been communicated to this Government only through Lord Napier; that it has full faith in the loyalty of the British Government, and, if Sir Gore Ouseley has exceeded his instructions in any particular, he will no doubt be called to a rigid account.

A letter from the commander of the Savannah, dated at Vera Cruz, March 10, confirms the defeat of Miramon, and the success of the constitutionalists in the interior, as well as their advance on the City of Mexico.

It is probable that Ex-Senator Jones will withdraw his declination of the Bogota Mission. There are at least twenty applicants for the vacant Commissionership of Patents and Indian Affairs, which will not be decided upon for a week to come.

WASHINGTON, April 5.

According to the present indications the Sickels trial will occupy at least two weeks.

The Quartermaster's department is curtailing its expenses as fast as the public service will admit.

In addition to the two military posts on the route to Utah three are to be dispensed in Texas and orders have been issued to stop the purchase of mules, &c.

Advices from Africa say the African squadron is still repeating their monotonous drudgery up and down the coast for a distance of 5,000 miles. The health of the men was tolerably good.

The recent order to immediately fit out the new steamers, is not with especial reference to the events in Nicaragua. The design is to relieve vessels in the Pacific and other squadrons.

The dispatches sent to General Lamar, are it is represented, of the most positive character.

They instruct him to demand from Nicaragua an apology, restitution, and indemnity, on the failure to comply with which he is to comply with which he is to ask for his passports.

The Home Squadron it is said will be strengthened, and the vessels placed at the disposal of General Lamar, to use them for defense of American citizens, their property and their vessels rights.

The dispatches of the flag officers, McCluney and Long, commanding respectively the Home and Pacific squadrons, are to obey the orders of General Lamar, and failing to receive them they are to exercise a latitudinous discretion. The usual diplomatic course has been pursued in informing the foreign legation of the intention of this Government.

NEW YORK, March 31.

Advices received by the Northern Light state that the Legislature of Nicaragua issued a special decree on the 4th inst., declaring the transit route free to all nations.

By the arrival of an English mail steamer at Aspinwall, important news from Greytown is furnished. The U S sloop of war Decatur having anchored in the cove near San Juan del Sur was mistaken for a fillibuster, and President Martinez, with four hundred troops, immediately took possession of the transit route to prevent the landing of the supposed fillibusters. On being appraised of the true character of the Decatur, he retreated, but destroyed the bridges.

In the meanwhile the French officers with a force crossed the lake to the river San Juan, and seized the White steamers, and forcibly imprisoned the officers and crew. They had not been released when the steamer left.

Forts Castillo and San Carlos are to be given up to M. Belly and his men for their head quarters.

Three of the treaties negotiated by Sir William Gore Ousley, the British Minister, have been ratified.

The workshops and houses at Punta Arenas, belonging to the Accessory Transit Company have been swept off by the sea.

According to the Panama Star it was the Nicaraguan Government officers who took possession of the American lake boats which had been abandoned to M. Belly.

The Herald, in editorially commenting on the important Nicaraguan news furnished by the steamer Northern Light, uses the following language:

"It will be seen that President Martinez, of that Republic has capped the climax of his hatred to the United States. All the transit steamers have been seized, the bridges destroyed Americans imprisoned, and the route thrown open to the world, regardless of the rights of our citizens.

"When it is taken into consideration that these wanton acts were perpetrated immediately on the conclusion of treaties with England and Sardinia, and the arrival of the French expedition under M. Felix Belly, there can be but one opinion as to the necessity of prompt, decisive action on the part of our Government. Instructions should be immediately dispatched to our naval commanders to blockade all the Nicaraguan ports, General Jerez, be at once dismissed General Lamar recalled and a suitable person sent to fill his place.

"The miserable governments of the Central American States should receive a lesson effective enough to save all future trouble in that quarter."

The Times says: "The seizure of the boats of the Transit Company is an invasion of American rights, and a Trespass upon American property which cannot pass unchallenged. If the President proves true to his pledges, and General Cass maintains the doctrines of his letter to Lamar, we shall speedily have this wrangle brought to a close. The best thing the President can do is to recall Lamar, send a competent man to take his place, and put one or two men of war at his dispoal. The whole matter has been trifled with too long already."

From the Correspondence of the N. Y. Herald,
Buenos Ayres, January 27.

The Paraguay Expedition—Probable Settlement of the Difficulty.—The steamer Primer Argentino, from up the river, is just in, the British packet starts in three hours, and I have just time to inform you of the following facts:

Judge Bowlin, our Commissioner, started up the river for Asuncion on the 2nd inst., on board the United States steamer Fulton. He was stopped at the fort of Ituperru, and informed that by a law or decree then in force no armed vessels was allowed to ascend the river Paraguay. Judge Bowlin answered the officer in command that he came in the name of and duly authorized by the United States of America, for the purpose of concluding a treaty with Paraguay, and to seek peacibly, "the indemnity for the past and security for the future." Whilst communications were being interchanged between Commissioner Bowlin, and the commander of the fort Ituperru the plenipotentiaries sent by the Paraguayan government arrived, and proposed an adjournment to the neutral city of Corrientes, in the Argentine republic. They expressed, on the part of their government, the most anxious desire for a fair, just, and peaceable arrangement with the government of the United States; and, further, that they were authorised to grant to the United States a treaty similar to those at present existing between their government and the governments of England France, and Sardinia; and furthermore, to leave to arbitration any and all such claims as the United States or any of its citizens might have against the government of Paraguay. Judge Bowlin replied that, such being the case, he would not then make a positive answer, but would meet the aforesaid plenipotentiaries at the said city of Corrientes within thirty days.

On the 20th inst., Judge Bowlin left for the city of Parana, where our new minister, Hon B C. Yancey, resides. Such is the state of our Paraguayan expedition up to the present moment.

The steamer Southern Star, and sloop Preble left for up the river from Montevideo on the 21st inst.

NEW YORK, April 9

Settlement of the Paraguay Difficulties.—The Herald has intelligence from Monte Video to the 10th of February, seventeen days later, announcing a peaceful adjustment of the difficulties with Paraguay, through the friendly offices of President Urquiza, of the Argentine Confederation. The precise terms of the settlement are not stated, but it is known that ample indemnity has been conceded to the family of the person killed on the steamer Water-witch, and to the American Company, represented by Mr. Hopkins.

NEW YORK, April 6.

Hostilities between Domenica and Denmark.—The Herald has letters from San Domingo to March 15, announcing hostilities between Dominica and Denmark.

A Danish Envoy recently arrived there in a war vessel, and peremptorily demanded one hundred and fifty thousand dollars as indemnity for the seizure of two Danish vessels by President Paez, during the recent revolution in Dominica.

The President, Santana, offered to refer the matter to arbitrators. The Danish functionary declined, giving the Dominicans twenty four hours to comply with his demands with the understanding that a refusal would be followed by a blockade of the port. The Dominicans forthwith decided in favor of war, and commenced manning their batteries. There was but one Danish war vessel in port.

Letters received here from San Domingo state that previous to the Danish action against Santana's government, the French demanded the concession of all the gold, silver, copper and coal mines of the Republic.

The writer of the above is entitled to full credence.

Trustees versus the Governor.—The old Board of Trustees of the Institute for the Blind, at a meeting held the present week, adopted resolutions, expressive of their disapproval of the Governor's course in the appointment of Trustees for the Benevolent Institutions. We learn that Judge Morrison sustains the Board's opinion in regard to the illegality of the Governor's action, and that the Boards of the other Institutions will no likely to follow the action of the Board of Trustees for the Blind Institute.

The resolutions adopted by the Blind Institute Board are as follows:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Board, the action of the Governor in appointing new Commissioners or Trustees under a recent act of the Legislature, is not justified by law, and is in contravention of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of James Morrison Attorney General, and that this Board alone is the legally constituted Board of Trustees of the Institute.

Resolved, That while we will not voluntarily submit to what we believe to be an act of usurpation, we desire to have the question strictly upon its merits, and for that purpose propose to the new Board that an agreed case be presented to the Marion Circuit Court for their adjudication, and that in the meantime this Board regard it as their duty to continue the exercise of their functions as Trustees of the Institute.—State Journal.

Arrival of the New York.

NEW YORK, April 5.

The steamship New York from Southampton, with dates to the 23d ult., has arrived.

It has been determined to hold a peace Congress for the settlement of the Indian affairs.

A large meeting of the workmen had been held in Hyde Park, to oppose the Ministerial Reform Bill.

The Neapolitan exiles had arrived at Bristol. They were received by a gathering of at least 10,000 persons, who had assembled on the quays in the vicinity of the landing.

The Paris correspondence of the London press state that the Emperor having been informed of the ultimate resolutions of Austria, now desires to recede, by diplomatic help, from his aggressive attitude.

Another letter says that Austria and France appear more inclined toward a pacific solution of Italian affairs.

It is certain that the Austrian force in Lombardy is more imposing than was supposed.

The Vienna correspondence says there is no danger that it will be diminished for the present.

Telegraphic dispatches from Paris say that the five powers have agreed to the assembling of a European Congress, but the basis and extent of the discussions we are not settled.

The Hague, London, and Berlin are mentioned as likely places for the Congress.

The Austrian papers caution their readers against too much confidence in the peaceful reports, and express an opinion that it is very doubtful whether the Congress will be convoked.

The export of arms, gunpowder and sulphur from Austria to the Italian states is prohibited.

The London Morning Herald says that France intends to protest against the construction of the fortifications at Piacenza.

The Cardinal Antonilli had again requested the immediate evacuation of Rome by the French troops.

The London Daily news says that the last Austrian circular is reported to have written by Prince Metternich.

In the British House of Commons, on Monday last, John Russell moved the amendment to the Reform bill of which he had given previous notice. The debates were adjourned till Tuesday next.

The London Times city article says the announcement of the Peace Congress caused an improvement in the funds, which would have been greater but for the fact that the Paris Bourse had not yet shown any decided recovery of confidence.

The steamship Canada arrived out on the 21st ultimo.

Advices from Austria one week later had been received. The mines continued to be prosperous.

India—Advices from the Bombay mail of the 25th February, had been telegraphed to London. The insurgents under Ballas had been dispersed by the English and the forts captured without a blow.

Tantia Topee was still at large.

French Intrigue in Nicaragua.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes thus under date of April 3d:

Our affairs in Nicaragua, independently of any complication with England, seem to require attention, particularly as the Government announced, nearly a year ago, that it would no longer consent to any further diplomatic trifling with Nicaragua. Our Cass Irrizarri treaty and the Irrizarri White contracts have both been repudiated by Nicaragua, and so has been her minister who negotiated them—M Irrizarri. Further attempts by the Government to open the transit by negotiation, would seem to be absurd.

M. Belly's proceedings and plans are much ridiculed here, but he has got a foothold on the Isthmus, with cohorts and naval and military means; but, besides, has been put by Nicaragua in possession of the forts on the lake, and the Transit Company's boats also. Leading men in France, and among them a Councillo of State, M. Michel Chevalier, has it seems, advocated M. Belly's plans and pretensions. He says, not only companies have come forward in his favor but illustrious personages, sovereigns, and men destined by providence to bear a glorious scepter, &c. All this means that French fillibustering on the Isthmus has commenced, and will be extended to the neighboring states of Mexico, where a new Empire is to be formed under the auspices of "men destined by providence to wield a glorious scepter."

If M Belly should meanwhile, complete the ship canal, it will become very useful and convenient for our intercourse with the Pacific States.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says, Ran. Runnels, the newly appointed Consul at San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, left here to day, with dispatches for General Lamar, and also dispatches for Commodore McCluney, of the home squadron, and Commodore Long of the Pacific squadron, who go out in tomorrow's steamer, from New York. These dispatches are understood to be, as stated yesterday, of a peremptory character, and will show the Government of Nicaragua that the United States will no longer submit to their double dealing policy.

If Sir William Gore Ousley has been weak enough as it is feared, to yield to the influence of Mr. Manning, the British Consul at Nicaragua, and exceeded his instructions, he will prove himself unfit for the important work he undertook, and ought to be recalled by his government.

Great activity prevails in our navy yards in getting ready vessels for immediate service. The Lancaster, Hartford, San Jacinto, Constellation, John Adams, Levant, Portsmouth, Mohican, Wyoming, and Narragansett, have been ordered to be prepared for the sea immediately.

☞ General William Walker, who is tolerably well known in the United States and other parts, arrived at Aspinwall in the steamship Granada, from New Orleans, via Havana, on the 15th under the name of William Wilson, and took passage on the 16th, in the California steamer, the Golden Age. He entered himself as a steerage passenger at New Orleans, but nevertheless he occupied a good cabin state room. The General is better in flesh than when he last passed through here from Nicaragua, and has got rid of that yellow, sickly hue of face he brought from that interesting Republic. It is rather suspected here that he is again turning his longing "blue-gray eyes" toward his first love—Sonora. General Bruno Von Natzmer accompanied Walker.

No Democratic Division.—An effort is being made by the opposition to distract the Democracy by the assertion that certain individuals are Douglas men, or Buchanan men, and that voters who wish to see the former gentlemen nominated by the Charleston Convention, should not support the friend of the latter, and with the facility of the fabled Satyr, who blew hot and cold with the same breath, these gentlemen are asserting that the Democracy who support the Administration should vote against what they are pleased to call the Douglas men. That game won't win. All the difference among men professing to be Democrats must be forgotten as long as the enemy are in the line of battle. There will be no division, and they who the opposition call Administration men will support the ticket, or they will be unworthy of the name.—Cleveland National Democrat.

Beware of the Widders, Samivel.—The widow of a Boston dry goods merchant caught a certain physician in her pretty toils—led him to hope—led him to propose, and then—wiped her weeping eyes, and said that she should always esteem him as a friend. Presently she re-opened a correspondence, says the Boston Ledger, visited him at his office in Beacon street, talked with him, laughed with him, flirted with him, and a second time refused him. Then reason began to totter, flickered for a while like an expiring lamp, and on Wednesday the last ray of intelligence left his brain. He became a raving maniac, fierce and cruel, and not able to contain his rage at the sight of a female's face. His first attack was upon a lady visitor at the house. He tore her clothes off and trampled them under foot. The frightened domestic rushed to the rescue, but the doctor demolished all who opposed him. He dashed his fists through mirrors—swept vases and clocks from mantle pieces—twisted off gas pipes—broke chairs and tables—dashed through a partition, and was only prevented from doing further violence by the arrival of two officers from the Second Station, who removed him from the house and kept him locked up until his friends sent him to an insane asylum, where he is now confined, and considered incurable.

Utah News.—A Utah correspondent of the San Francisco Evening Bulletin gives the following items of Mormon news:

Brigham Young has not been seen out half a dozen times during the last six months—probably not feeling safe, and fearing to meet the fate of his predecessor, Joe Smith, "but from his own people." It is said that he is preparing to depart for unknown regions, where he can enjoy his freedom and recruit his health, which is said to be declining. It is also currently rumored that several of the leading men are about to apostatize and preparing to leave, namely; Heber Kimball's son William Feinmore Little, Brigham's right hand man, and Claudius Spencer. This is causing considerable excitement.

It is also said that a number of others are collecting money from the brethren and sisters, ostensibly with a view of going east and buying goods, &c.,—an easy way of raising the wind, and if successful, depend upon it, this valley will never see them again.

It is also stated that William Kimball's third wife shot at his first, and on his interfering she told him he would get served the same way if he did not like it. He has since sent her off, as well as the others, and retains only the first, in consequence of which, together with the above, he had a row with his father Heber.

An attempt to assassinate a Gentile was made a few nights since; but fortunately the knife only grazed the skin beneath his shirt bosom. We shall have plenty of excitement here shortly, when the bull whackers begin to arrive with the trains. The gamblers and the Mormon police always go armed with pistol and knife. I expect every day to hear of a shooting affair or two.

Louis Napoleon.—The Paris correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune says:

Public opinion is awakening even in benumbed France, and every class of population is feeling that Louis Napoleon is ruining the country. Complaints are made by all the tradesmen and workmen here that they are doing nothing. All the noble families of the Faubourg Saint Germain are still in the country. There is more money idle in the Bank of England than there has been before for six years. The public debt of France has increased above fifty per cent. since Louis Napoleon became Emperor. It was $1,150,000,000, and is now $2,175,000,000, and although the country is in a state of profound peace, the expenditure annually exceeds the receipts $72,000,000, with a tendency to rise; besides in this sum is not included the vast amount of debt he has forced all the cities of France to incur to give employment to the working classes!

Rules for Rail-Road Travelers.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin, one of the most useful practical papers that come to our table, has the following hints that are worth remembering.

Applicants for tickets on rail-roads can be ejected from the cars if they do not offer the exact amount of fair. their Conductors are not bound to make change.

Passengers who lose their tickets can be ejected from the cars, unless they purchase a second one.

Passengers are bound to observe decorum in the cars, and are obliged to comply with all reasonable demands to show tickets. Standing upon the platform, or otherwise violating a rule of the company, renders a person liable to be put from the train.

No person has any right to monopolize more seats than he has paid for, and any article left on the seat, while the owner is temporarily absent, entitles him to the place on his return.

Speedy.—The new coalition of the New York Central, Hudson River, Lake Shore and Michigan Roads, against the New York and Erie, Pennsylvania and New Jersey Central, for the through business of the West, is one of the most remarkable on record.

The Central trains will make the distance from Buffalo to Troy or Albany in ten hours, and to New York in fifteen hours, or about thirty-five miles an hour, including stoppages—a most remarkable schedule of speed, and one that will involve extraordinary wear and tear of material.

Competition.—The "reckless competition" as it is termed by some of the "York" papers between the two main roads of that State, to secure the through trade of the West, is being roughly pitched into by some of those Journals. Some of them seem to think that the West alone will be benefited. Hear the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser:

The stockholders gain nothing. Admitting that they thus secure the business of the West; it avails nothing towards dividend. Are the people of this State the gainers? No. The merchants of Albany, Utica, Syracuse Rochester, Buffalo, or those of the various towns upon the Erie Road, will pay higher upon their local freights than hitherto. Except when the two roads come in immediate competition, fares will be no less. But the West will gain. Its produce will pour over our roads at prices far below the cost of carriage, and the roads, in the vain struggle to repair their loss, will assess local freights in the most exorbitant manner.

So far as the immense losses incurred by this competition are made up at all, they will be made up from the over-burdened citizens of New York, the farmer, the freighter, the merchant of every class and degree. Within a week we asked a merchant in Monroe County what rates of freight he paid. The figures he gave us were three times what the merchant of Buffalo pays, and more than three times the amount paid by the merchant in Detroit. This system of railroad management is striking at the root of the prosperity of the State. It increases the cost of the goods consumed by the farmer. It decreases by from five to ten per cent. the market value of his products.

It cripples all the smaller villages by rendering them unable to compete with cities where rail-road competition exists. It cripples the cities themselves by destroying their Western trade. The merchants of Toledo, of Detroit, of Indianapolis, of Cleveland, receive their goods from New York at a cost actually less than that paid by the merchants of Buffalo. When Buffalo pays thirty cents per hundred pounds, Chicago pays only twenty-five cents. How can we have a wholesale trade under such circumstances? How can the State at large endure this constant drain on its vitality?

When death is at the door, the remedy which would have saved life, if administered in time, comes too late. Do not trifle with disease. Rely upon it, that when the stomach will not digest the food—when faintness and lassitude pervade the system—when the sleep is disturbed, the appetite feeble, the mind lethargic, the nerves unnaturally sensitive, and the head confused—rely upon it, that when these symptoms occur, the powers of vitality are failing, and that, unless the mischief is promptly checked, life will be shortened, as well as rendered miserable. Now we know from a mass of testimony, greater than was ever before accumulated in favor of one remedy, that Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr C M Jackson, Philadelphia, will immediately abate, and, in the end, entirely remove all these disorders as surely as a mathematical process will solve a problem. Who, then, will endure its agony and the risk of life, with health and safety within reach? See advertisement.

The great Drawback to persons emigrating to the extreme south and western country, is the fear they have of the Fever and Ague—the most direful of all diseases. Every day we hear of persons attacked by this disease and made helpless in a short time, without any means of finding relief. In view of the great demand for a remedy, Dr. Hostetter has presented his celebrated "Bitters," whose curative powers for all diseases of the stomach have been universally acknowledged. The "Bitters," prepared after a long experience and deep study, have received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes, from every part of our country. To those who doubt their many virtues, all we can say is to try them, and judge for themselves, respectively.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

ARE YOU SICK?

Then you can't be cured too soon. Don't delay until your complaint is incurable, and then mourn when it is too late. Four-fifths of all the diseases which people the church yards might be cured by Ayer's Cathartic Pills, if taken in season. Don't go dragging through the Spring, faint sleepy and listless, because your blood is loaded with bile. Don't wear the Headache, Heartburn, and their kindred disorders, because your stomach is foul. Don't parade yourself around the world, covered with Pimples, Blotches, Ulcers, Sores, and all or any of the unclean diseases of the skin, because your system wants cleansing. Don't show yourself about, lean, haggard, all caved in, because your Stomach and Bowels need strengthening into healthy action. Ayer's Pills set these things right as surely as water quenches fire. They purify the body and blood, and restore their functions into healthy activity which you can feel as quick as they are taken. They are the one great medical wonder of this age, recognized by all who know their virtues, and many thousands know them. Take the Cherry Pectoral for a cough, and the Pills for all derangements requiring a purgative medicine.

The Cleveland Wool Depot

HAS been established over six years, and it affords the subscribers much satisfaction to know that its merits are fully appreciated by those who have patronized it during this entire time. The change made one year ago in confining its sales to cash, has met with universal favor. It is proposed to continue the cash system and future consignors may rely on the same prompt return which characterized our last year's business. Perhaps not quite as high figures can be obtained by adhering strictly to cash, but it will insure prompt returns, and hundreds have assured us that they obtained from five to ten cents a pound more through the Depot than they were offered last Spring from other sources, and we believe this has been true every year excepting a few of the consignments during the Fall of 1857. It should, therefore, no longer remain a question in the minds of having Wool to dispose of, that this system of closely classifying and handling wool will prove the very best manner of selling wool which has yet been adopted.

Wool Growers or Merchants

Sacks will be sent as heretofore to those who may order.

To those wishing to realize on their wool as soon as shorn, advances will be made

AMOUNTING TO THE VALUE OF THE WOOL,

Providing the Consignors will allow them offered for sale at the first or early prices.

Cash advances will be made on receipt of Wool or Shipping Bill, as formerly.

We trust that the liberal Cash advances, the long experience in the Depot business, and established reputation of our grades among manufacturers, with undivided attention to our consignors' interests, will insure us a liberal patronage.

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

IT is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

FEVER AND AGUE.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

THE GREATEST

MEDICAL DISCOVERY Of the Age.

Mr. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds, a remedy that cures

Every Kind of Humor,

FROM

The worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over one hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

TWO bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three or five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.

One or two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

One tablespoonful per day will prevent chills and fever.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

ROXBURY, MASS.

DEAR MADAM.—The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kinds of humors, is so well established by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful Druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative powers, in relieving all, and curing most of those diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother,

NURSING SORE MOUTH,

Is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fitful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessing to your husband and household.

In the more advanced stages of

CANKER

It extends to the stomach, causing

DYSPEPSIA,

which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then to the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

Your stomach is

RAW AND INFLAMED,

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibres of your body become relaxed. Then follow a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is particularly

ADAPTED TO CURE;

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain in the hip joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also, that most excruciating of diseases, the

PILES,

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

you have both the preventative and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you any injury.

No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you can get and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day;—Children over ten years, dessert spoonful;—Children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

DONALD KENNEDY.

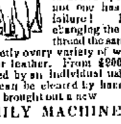
B. RANDALL,

PROPRIETOR OF

I. M. SINGER'S Patent Sewing Machine,

of the State of Pennsylvania (except the counties of Erie, Aleghaney and Philadelphia) State of Wisconsin, and the northern part of Indiana.



THE world wide reputation of these machines renders puffing unnecessary. All who have used Singer's Machines testify to their superior merits over all others. Over 12,000 have been sold and are now in active operation, and not one has proved a failure! By simply changing the needle and thread the same machine will execute perfectly every variety of work, coarse or fine, on cloth or leather. From $200 to $500 a year can be cleared by an individual using this machine more than can be cleared by hand.

Singer has also brought out a new highly ornamented, which for beauty and expedition far surpasses all other Family Machines. These machines use two threads, forming a lock stitch in the centre of the goods sewed, and making a perfect back stitch on both sides of the cloth, which makes a seam much stronger and harder to rip than hand sewing, and does not use more than two thirds as much thread as the chain stitch machine.

These machines are for sale by the undersigned, at his office on North Fifth Street, opposite Good's Hotel, Reading, Pennsylvania;

Also by T. E. EYANSON, Traveling Agent in Indiana. Silk, Needles, Oil, and Thread for sale by T. E. EYANSON,
